U.S., London Delegates Leaving Geneva

Deputies Continue Arms Talk

Outlook for Pact Agreement Is Dim

GENEVA (AP)—The top American and British delegates at the nuclear test ban talks have decided to return home Friday but will leave their deputies to continue the deadlocked conference.

Arthur H. Dean of the United States and British Minister of State Joseph Golder came to today's third session of the resumed talks with their minds made up that nothing could be gained by their continued presence.

Dean to Consult
Officially, Dean is returning to Washington for consultations with the government on the Soviet rejection of any kind of international control machinery.

Golder is returning to New York to resume his post as head of the British delegation at the U.N. Assembly.

The Western side believes the Soviet Union has eliminated any prospect for a disarmament agreement at this time by rejecting the location of its territory of any international machinery to control nuclear weapons testing.

Neither American nor British officials would say that the Western delegates' departure resulted from a conviction that the three-year-old negotiations are now doomed to failure in their present form.

Resumed Tuesday

The deputies, Charles C. Stelle of the United States and Sir Michael Wright of Britain, are to continue meeting Russia's Semyon K. Tsarapkin for the time being. But as Tsarapkin refuses to discuss controls, and the West refuses to discuss a test ban without controls, the prospects of compromise appear nil.

The talks resumed Tuesday after a nine-week recess caused by the Soviet breach of the East-West nuclear testing truce.

Western officials said the new deadlock at least underlined that the Soviet Union now regards all Western demands for international control and inspection as incompatible with its own security.

Supported by Many

The United States and Britain consider an elaborate control system the only guarantee against the violation of a disarmament agreement between nations who cannot and will not trust each other. This view has the support of all Western nations and a majority of the nonaligned countries of the world.

As the three-power talks resumed in Geneva, the Kremlin put forward a new plan for a nuclear test ban without any international controls at all. The West rejected it.

Eulogy in Words for Son

Rocky Sad, Shaken Father on Return

NEW YORK (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller was back home today—a sad and shaken father.

His long journey home from the Netherlands New Guinea wilds ended Wednesday night at Idlewild Airport.

Facing more than 100 newsmen, photographers and cameramen, Rockefeller expressed hope that a "miracle" would happen and that his youngest son, Michael, 23, would be found alive.

Mostly in Past Tense

Most of the governor's words were a eulogy of Michael—"he always loved people and was loved by people. He loved the beauty of life, the beauty of people, the beauty of art and sculpture. He knew no fear."

Rockefeller's voice was soft as he spoke of his son, who disappeared on an art-hunting expedition in New Guinea.

His references to Michael were mostly in the past tense.

After telling what kind of lad Michael was—or is—and relating details of the trip half way around the world to aid the search for him, the governor left the airport in a car, saying he was going to see his estranged wife.

Accompanying him were one of his brothers, banker David Rockefeller, and two of his sons, Steven and Rodman. They were among those who met him at the airport. Mrs. Rockefeller has been in seclusion at the family estate at suburban Pocantico Hills. The governor kept his wife informed of all developments while he was in New Guinea.

Michael was reported missing 11 days ago. That was two days after the Rockefeller family—married for 31 years—announced they had separated and planned divorce. The governor started the long plane journey to New Guinea shortly after he received word that Michael had disappeared. Michael had tried to swim 3½ miles to shore from a capsized raft.

Red Ambassador Bolts Dinner in Wake Of LBJ's Warning Against Any Attack

NEW YORK (AP)—The Soviet ambassador to the United Nations walked out of a humanitarian award dinner Wednesday night after Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson warned the Soviet Union against any attack on Europe.

The ambassador, Valerian A. Zorin, left the dais just after Johnson said "any Soviet attack on Europe would be a most hazardous enterprise."

Zorin's walkout was joined by Lilia Kizya, the Ukrainian representative, and Yordan Tchobanov, Bulgaria's ambassador to the U.N., and their wives. The ambassadors of Poland and Yugoslavia did not join Zorin in leaving.

Zorin refused to talk to newsmen in the Hotel Astor ballroom, where 800 guests were assembled to honor Adlai E. Stevenson, U.S. ambassador to the U.N.

Later, at Soviet U.N. mission headquarters, Zorin accused Johnson of "embarrassing" him and making "political" remarks, adding: "At a dinner of a humanitarian function such a statement was out of place."

After the dinner Johnson, asked for comment, replied: "It's a speech, a speech."

Continued Zorin: "From what I heard and saw, Mr. Johnson began accusing the U.S.S.R. in some expansionist aspirations and actions which I, as the representative of the Soviet Union, cannot listen to from any quarter, including Vice President Johnson."

Johnson, who read his speech, had called attention to the buildup of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and said:

"Its forces have steadily expanded in numbers and efficiency.

Any Soviet attack on Europe would be a most hazardous enterprise. The principal base of Western power outside the U.S. is vastly more secure."

Zorin said that he had no opportunity to reply at once to Johnson.

"If it were a political discussion or a meeting," Zorin said, "I would do so."

"I am sorry to have interrupted such a fine dinner," Zorin added. "There was nothing else I could do under the circumstances."

Johnson did not appear to have noticed that Zorin left the table.

Stevenson, who was honored with Medico's "World Humanitarian Award," said he had no comment on Zorin's walkout.

Medico cited Stevenson as an "ambassador extraordinary whose deep concern for the liberty and dignity of mankind reflects the highest American ideals and inspires all men."

Dems Plan Own Seat Shift Bill

Say GOP Measure Only Aids Rural

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The Legislature's Democratic minority leaders, plumping for their own reapportionment proposal, charge a Republican plan for redistributing legislative seats would benefit rural areas at the expense of cities and suburbs.

Sen. Joseph Zaretzki and Assemblyman Anthony J. Travia said GOP leaders intended to "accelerate the growing pattern of discrimination in the Legislature in favor of the less populated areas."

The Republicans will reapportion Legislative seats next year to reflect population changes shown by the 1960 federal census. At a special session of the Legislature, the Democrats will propose reapportionment at a special session of the Legislature.

The legislative reapportionment is expected to result in New York City losing 9 assembly seats, to 36 and 4 senate seats, to 21.

Most of the seats lost by the city, which has shown a population decline, will be shifted to suburban Nassau and Suffolk counties, the fastest-growing areas of the state.

Update areas will gain the other seats under a complicated formula that is part of the state constitution.

Zaretzki and Travia said Wednesday they would propose a constitutional amendment that would set up a method of legislative reapportionment to give "every citizen an equal voice in making the laws."

Any proposal that threatened Republican control of the Legislature would have little chance of passage.

A joint legislative committee is drafting the legislative reapportionment bill. No official decisions have been announced.

In legislative reapportionment, the total number of citizens is used in congressional apportionment, the entire population is used.

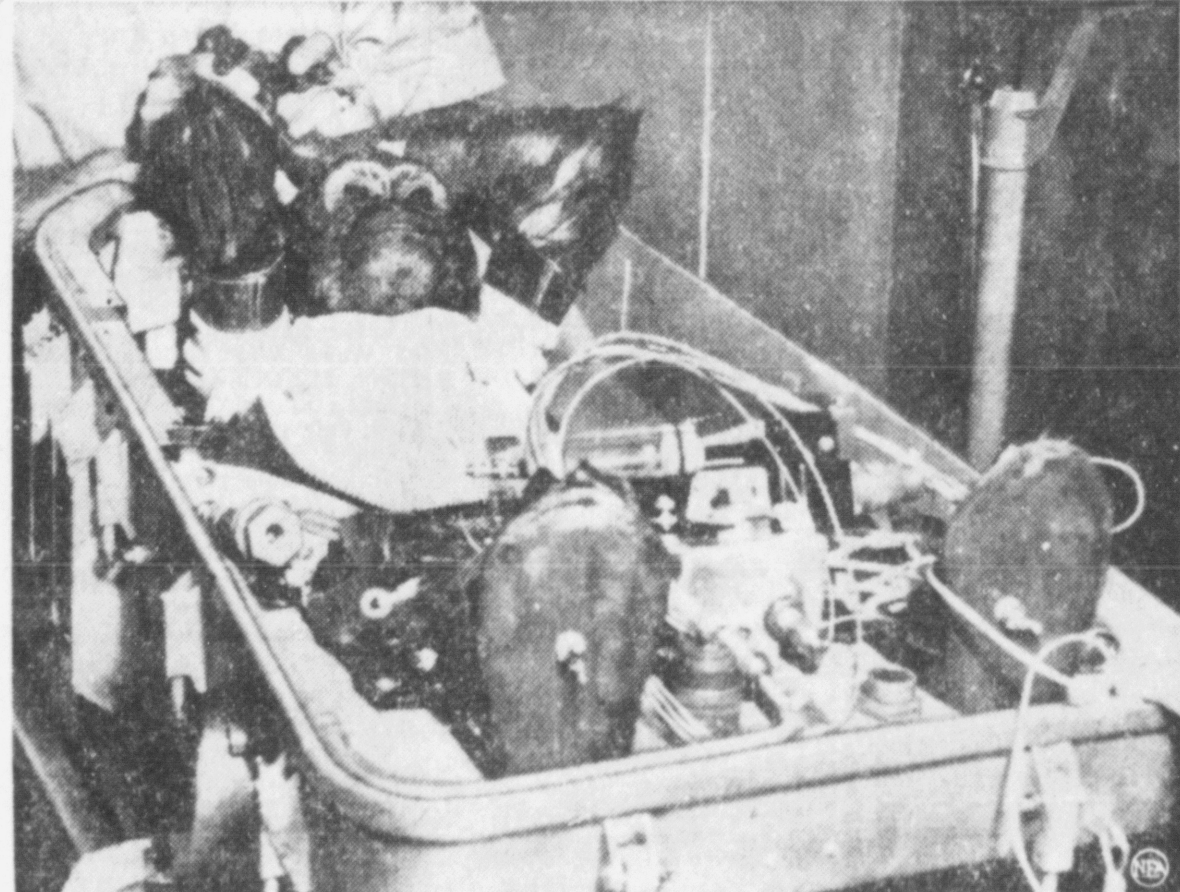

Under the constitution, each county, except Fulton and Hamilton, is entitled to at least one assemblyman, regardless of its population. Fulton and Hamilton share an assemblyman.

Zaretzki and Travia said that, under this system, the less populous Upstate counties are guaranteed the preservation of legislative strength while New York City is required to give up seats to meet the needs of Long Island counties.

The update areas are predominantly Republican.

Reports Purse Stolen

Mrs. Elizabeth Ellsworth of Port Ewen notified local police Wednesday afternoon that her pocketbook was stolen while she was in the uptown area. It contained $15 in bills and some change, she said.

Pollution Called Death of Erie By Fishery Report

LONDON, Ont. (AP)—Lake Erie is dying rapidly because of pollution, the U.S. Great Lakes fisheries commission reports.

"Lake Erie can be described accurately as a 'dying lake' and because of the subtle accumulative effects of sewage and industrial wastes it may be dead even before we are aware of it," the commission said.

The agency said industrialization of the area surrounding the 9,350 square-mile lake and the Detroit River has created a pollution load that has changed the physical, chemical and biological characteristics of the lake. More than 26 million tons of silt enter Lake Erie each year, it said.

The report said that bathing beaches have become unusable, contamination of water supplies is an increasing problem and harbor areas are becoming difficult to keep clear.

One indication of the increased pollution, the commission said, was that once-abundant cisco, whitefish and blue pickerel have all but disappeared from the lake while more pollution-tolerant species, such as sheepshead, smelt and carp, were becoming abundant.

The report was delivered Tuesday to the Canadian Great Lakes Fishery Commission at a meeting here.

Quiet After Attack

MCCOMB, Miss. (AP)—An uneasy quiet settled over this southern Mississippi railhub today after a gang of white youths attacked five Negroes at a bus station.

One city official, who asked to remain anonymous, said he expects federal marshals to be sent in—as they were after racial disorders at Montgomery, Ala.—if another outbreak of violence occurs.

The FBI already has been asked to investigate the attack.

Has Loaded Pistol, Deer Violation

Makes Getaway Try, Suspends Sentence

A Massapequa man who a year ago attempted to avoid an inspection of his car by State Trooper Charles Bundschuh during a routine check near Allaben, was given a six month suspended jail sentence in County court Wednesday afternoon on a plea to a misdemeanor charge of having a gun in the car.

Remo Joseph Sarra, 36, of 98 Abbey Street, Massapequa, was charged with criminally possessing a pistol after a prior conviction. His counsel, Charles Saccoccia, told Judge Mino that Sarra had already been punished severely for his act.

Makes Dash

In an attempt to avoid the trooper, Sarra drove off at high speed after being halted. Trooper Bundschuh fired a shot at the fleeing car and Sarra, a few hundred feet down the road, crashed into a concrete bridge abutment.

The car was wrecked and Sarra suffered two fractured legs, a fractured pelvis, fractured wrist and head injuries. He remained in critical condition at Kingston Hospital for some time.

Gun, Deer Found

In the car was found a loaded pistol, and an improperly tagged deer. The act took place November 22, 1960 near Allaben. In view of the facts surrounding the case, Judge Mino suspended the jail sentence and exonerated Sarra.

Seymour C. Brewster, 19, Phoenicia, entered a plea of guilty to third degree assault, and was given a year suspended jail sentence.

Bail was exonerated for Brewster, said the original charge had been the result of a "spree" in which others were involved and asked leniency. Judge Mino, in suspending the jail sentence, said he was doing so because of the facts surrounding the affair which involved a person of none too good character.

Steals Car Twice

William Maust, 37, Ellenville, a car thief, was given a year in the county jail with credit for the time he has already served. Maust was accused of petit larceny for the taking of a car valued at less than $100. Howard C. St. John, who appeared by assistant.

Goldwater drew fire Wednesday from President Kennedy and Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson.

Kennedy struck back in his news conference at Goldwater's opposition to giving the President broad powers to negotiate tariff matters, particularly with respect to the European Common Market.

Checkup Is Scheduled For Chimp

Astronaut's Trip Not Urgent: NASA

By JOHN BARBOUR
Associated Press Science Writer

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Heartened by the world-circling space flight of a chimpanzee, the United States picked a man to take the next step up the long, dark stairway to the moon.

But it was Enos, a serious 37½ pound chimp, who paved the way with his whirlwind trip, twice around the world Wednesday.

Enos, the orbiting chimpanzee, arrived here aboard a destroyer today and was whisked off immediately to the hospital at Kindley Air Force Base for a checkup.

He appeared bright and calm, but quiet.

The vessel which picked him up from the sea after his two orbits around the earth Wednesday brought him to this island.

The chimp was resting in a private room on the second floor.

Veterinary technicians and Air Force enlisted men were watching over him.

Before getting his rest, Enos was taken for a short walk along the corridor of the hospital to get his hind legs back.

Just 3 hours and 21 minutes after he had ridden an Atlas rocket into the sky, Enos was plucked from the sea by a Navy destroyer 255 miles south of Bermuda.

Less than two hours later, space officials named U.S. Astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. to ride a similar spacecraft three times around the world. Underlying Glenn for that first American manned orbital shot is Astronaut Scott Carpenter.

Stayton on Second Team
Officials also named a team for the second manned shot: Astronaut Donald B. Stayton, with Astronaut Walter Schirra backing him up.

There is no assurance, however, that the United States will be able to put a man into orbit around the globe this year.

Officials denied any urgency for the flight, suggesting it was not yet decided whether man or animal would ride the next Project Mercury rocket into earth orbit.

But only a day earlier, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration had allotted a contract for the design and construction of a three-man space capsule that could go to the moon.

True, scientists had to bring Enos and his spacecraft to earth before the intended three orbits of the earth had been completed.

Remarkable Windup
True, difficulties within the spacecraft itself were the reason. But NASA officials emphasized at a news conference later that a man in the spacecraft would have been able to make manual adjustments and finish the third orbit.

It was a remarkable 15 minutes (Continued on Page 8, Col. 3)

To Produce by Spring

The huge cooler, some 90 feet in length, and 13 feet in diameter, also originally scheduled to arrive on Friday, will be delayed. It left Danville, Pa., by rail today and is due to arrive at the Greenkill Avenue siding the latter part of next week, the company spokesman said today.

Sacrifices, Problems Are Evident, Kennedy to GIs

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has sought to impress on reservists who have been called into uniform that he understands their problems.

But, at the same time, the President has made it clear he wants them—and their families—to understand why the men were called up. To increase the nation's armed forces at a time of crisis.

The subject of reservists and their morale occupied much of Kennedy's attention at his 31-minute news conference Wednesday.

At times, he bristled a bit about the matter. And, he also held out the hope that the men may be out of uniform short of the required 12 months.

Kennedy's comments were made against a background of published reports about some reservists having poor equipment, little to do or being square pegs in round holes.

For most of the men, the President said, "it is a heavy sacrifice" to be called up. "We are not at war. They go to camps which have perhaps been newly opened or where the equipment may not be immediately available. They are bound to be unhappy."

However, the President added, "I would propose any serviceman sitting in a camp, however unsatisfactory it can be, and I know how unsatisfactory it is, will recognize that he is contributing to the security of his family in a most direct way."

The President made specific mention of Ft. Lewis, Wash., where Wisconsin's 32nd National Guard Division is serving. Conditions there have been sharply criticized by Rep. Alvin O'Konski, R-Wis., who has said the Army

Put Workers Back on Jobs, Compensation Board's Aim

NEW YORK—Bringing the injured worker back to employability and financial independence has been made the primary objective of the Workmen's Compensation Board, Colonel S. E. Senior, its chairman, said today.

In reporting to the Joint Legislative Committee on Industrial and Labor Conditions at the Hotel Astor, Colonel Senior said the time was past for the use of compensation payments merely as a sop to the injured workman.

The emphasis today is, as it should be, he said, to restore the worker to his rightful, productive role in society by affording him every opportunity to overcome his handicap or disability.

He called the change in emphasis "a significant shift in the philosophy of workmen's compensation—a shift for which I have been striving since my appointment as chairman." Colonel Senior was named to the post by Governor Rockefeller in 1959.

"Today," he said, "the emphasis is upon healing of the injured worker and restoring him to his rightful place in society."

FALSE ASSURANCE

The salesman was glib, assured, persuasive, as a salesman doubtless ought to be. His sales talk was convincingly seasoned with figures. He made it appear that the product he offered would admirably serve the purpose for which it was designed.

He made it appear so, that is, except to anyone with rudimentary knowledge of the conditions under which the salesman's product would be expected to function. Any such listener who happened by could discern at once that the salesman's figures were in error and his conclusion grossly misleading.

The salesman was trying to sell prefabricated fallout shelters. He declared flatly that in the event of nuclear attack "blast would affect only three per cent of the nation" and the rest of us — presumably nestled in the shelters he was pushing — would survive. This is perilously deceptive talk, and it is going on all over the United States. Such glib assurance of survival, if only householders will purchase and install this or that brand of shelter, comes very close to fraud.

The problems of immediate survival in the neighborhood of a nuclear blast are vastly more difficult and complex than this sort of sales pitch admits. Beyond that, the obstacles to carrying on any kind of civilized existence in the succeeding months and years are such as to make talk of "survival" in shelters seem ridiculous.

It is bad enough when salesmen put out misinformation and ill-considered assurances about a product of questionable value. It is far worse when men who make some claim of expert knowledge are careless with the facts or minimize the hazards in an effort to advance their point of view. A questioning skepticism is necessary armor against being hoodwinked into equating fallout shelters and survival.

It's rumored that Moscow may soon fire East German puppet Walter Ulbricht. Unfortunately, there's no thought of firing him to the moon.

IN RETURN FOR SERVICE

Defense Secretary McNamara's hint that the call-up of reserve forces to active duty is nearing its end was welcome news for the thousands of men on the verge of being called. It is cold comfort to those who already have had their civilian lives disrupted and now find that active duty is boringly inactive.

McNamara's declaration that there are "no present plans" to call up large additional numbers of men has not done much, either, for the morale of those who find living conditions well below par. Conditions, for example, such as those that some men stationed at Fort Lewis, Wash., have complained about.

Reserve officers and men called to active duty are, voluntarily or not, making a sacrifice for their country that other civilians are not asked to make. It is to their credit that they are making this sacrifice, by and large, with a minimum of grouching about their lot. Most of them appear to understand their obligation, and to accept it as a necessary condition of the times.

The nation also has an obligation to these men, however. They are giving from several months to a year of their lives to help shore up the national defenses. Perhaps the boredom that some of them complain of, the feeling that they are wasting time that might be better spent, is a necessary evil. There is a waiting game, and a certain amount of boredom and frustration may be inevitable. But the least the nation can do, in return for their service, is to see that they are comfortably housed and well equipped. There is no excuse for armed forces laxity on this score.

Slack business and high taxes are blamed by New York restaurants for lower profits. No profit-cutting combination could be more formidable.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY
EXTREME RIGHTIST

I am asked by M. J. Crawford of Ridgewood, New Jersey, to define an "extreme rightist." The questioner wonders what President Kennedy meant when he referred to such in a speech in California.

Unfortunately, it is a meaningless term, just as "extreme leftist" would be meaningless. No one can accurately define such terms. It is unfortunate that President Kennedy did not use a more precise phrase.

Any thinking people divide themselves into various segments of thought and response to public questions. Let us define some of them as they now exist:

1. The Middle-of-the-Roaders are those who always go along with what at the moment is popular and acceptable. When Eisenhower was President, they held that whatever Eisenhower said was inspired; now, they hold that whatever Kennedy says is inspired. They are never wrong because they never differ from the popular. They serve any master who seeks their service.

2. Among those who are not so pliable are many who hold differing principles of life. These may range on what is called the Right from 19th century Liberals who fear the spread of the power of government to conservatives who wish to preserve the traditions of the country to reactionaries to whom all changes are repugnant; and on what is called the Left are those who would accelerate change and reform at various rates of speed to the Communists who would destroy our system of life and adopt Marxism.

When President Kennedy refers to the Right Extremists, he could mean such groups as the John Birch Society or the Minutemen who decline to recognize the course of events since 1914 and the vast changes that have already occurred in this country. They sincerely would like to live in the world as it existed when they were born; they would like to ignore the drastic social and economic changes that have taken place since they were born. They find these changes hateful.

The opposed Franklin D. Roosevelt and they refuse to recognize that the New Deal did manage to make a violent change in our lives. President Kennedy finds such groups distasteful because they are unrealistic. They fail to recognize that the Marxist movement throughout the world altered many of the accepted ways of life. Their children and grandchildren can describe these changes and their effects upon them. For instance, they can tell their elders that whenever they have to consider marriage, college, careers, any phase of life, they must consider the prospect of war, the menace of war, the delays that war will bring to their lives. The younger generation cannot go back to 1900.

President Kennedy is himself of this younger generation. He has been to war. His back has been broken by war. He has made a success in life but he knows how many of his colleagues and friends have become permanently crippled by war; he knows how many of them received "Dear John" letters; he knows the heart-break of unsatisfied aspirations.

But what undoubtedly shocks him is that the next generation to his, the youngsters, are conservatives to a greater or lesser degree. This younger generation rejects the clichés and truisms of the Liberals, the mouthpieces of the New Dealers. They seek to relate their ideals of progress to history memory.

Just as the radicalism of the 1930's shocked the elders of that period, so the conservatism of youth today shocks the balding middle-aged of the 1930's. Adlai Stevenson may have been regarded as a philosopher of the 1940's but in the 1960's, youth seeks clearer definitions, a review of the relations of science and religion. They do not quote Thorstein Veblen or John Maynard Keynes, but they know such names as Martin Luther King, Jr. or Sydney Hook. Just as their forbears knew of Howard Fast, so today the youngsters know of William Buckley, Jr. Just as their forbears laughed at God, so do they in this period try to discover God. The world has changed, as it always changes, from generation to generation and only those stand still who are blinded and have grown deaf.

Thus, when President Kennedy speaks of the Extreme Rightists, he was disclosing the beginnings of grey hairs. He is moving to the middle of the road and will have to re-think his youth. It comes to all of us and when it reaches him, we shall have a stronger and more understanding man. (Copyright, 1961, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Here's No-Gimmick Routine For Exercising at Home

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.

Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Here are the details of a physical fitness program. It will help to loosen your joints, whether normal or arthritic, and stretch your muscles and tendons so they don't crack like a barn door that is opened in the spring after a winter of disuse. Turn on your radio to a musical program that's to your liking. Preferably (if you can find such), one that's free for a quarter-hour from commercials and the oh-so-jolly spiel of an oh-so-jolly disc jockey.

Now, standing before an open window, with or without clothes, put each joint through its NORMAL RANGE OF MOTION.

And, do what you do slowly, but with maximum precision. Don't just flap away like a flag in the wind. Give the sort of firm beat that's given by the leader of a band or an orchestra. Beginning at the neck, turn your chin to right and then left, perhaps 10 to 20 times. Then chin-to-chest and chin-in-air. Then make a sort of circle with your chin.

Next get to work on your shoulders. With arms outstretched, force them back as far as they'll go and then cross them in front as far as they'll go.

Then, with arms still outstretched, touch fingers to toes and up and back as far as possible to limber the spine at the same time. Next, still with arms outstretched, make circles. And finally, with hands clasped back of head, bring elbows together in front and then jam back as far as they'll go.

Now go to work on your back. With hands on hips, twist to right and left. Then bend to right and left. And finish with the upper half of your body by hitting your shoulders with clenched fists. Then, spread arms and fingers as far out as they'll go as if you were a candidate appealing for votes.

Before you start on your lower extremities, put your hands over your lower ribs. Then, as you blow out all the breath you can, crush the rib cage in as far as possible. And, when that's done and you start to gasp up, hook your fingers under the cage and open it up as far as you can while you expand your lungs to capacity.

For your leg work, you'll need apparatus. That is to say, a chair and a nearby couch or bed. Holding on to the chair with one hand, loosen hips by raising and lowering first one leg and then the other with knees stiff. Then to the side. And then the partial circle.

Now, with one hand on the chair and the other on the bed, squat down as far as you can and then straighten your knees as far back as they'll go. And finish off the standing exercises by rising up on heels and back on toes.

Finally, lie on top of your bed or couch with hands clasped behind head. Point toes up as high as you can and then bend them down and at the same time make believe you are trying to pick up something with them.

You may find that more trying than you imagine. But it's a very important exercise. Then make circles with your toes to limber up the ankles. Repeat your breathing exercises and call it a day.

WASHINGTON, (NEA)—Rep. Hastings Keith, R-Mass., sadly remembers how his daughter Carolyn took the death of her pet dog Laddie. Her mother told her as gently as possible that Laddie had been run over during the afternoon.

Both parents were surprised when Carolyn took the news quite calmly. But later in the evening, the daughter could be heard in the back yard calling, "Laddie, Laddie! Where are you?"

Again, her mother told her gently that the dog had been killed. Carolyn immediately burst into tears, sobbing: "Oh, I thought you said 'Daddy,' not 'Laddie,'"

SECRETARY OF STATE Dean Rusk told one on William S. Gaud Jr., when he was sworn in as Middle East and South Asia regional administrator for foreign aid. Both Rusk and Gaud were colonels on the staff of General Joseph W. Stilwell in the China-Burma-India theater during World War II. Communications were primitive or non-existent and the theater resorted to carrier pigeons for many messages.

The trouble was the birds were so sleek and well kept that the natives shot them down—often with bow and arrow—and ate them with or without the messages.

Gaud, who was in charge of the Lend-Lease administration put in a rush requisition to Washington for a new supply of pigeons.

There was a delay. Then came a reply from the Pentagon. According to the war manuals, it said, prolific pigeons were supposed to breed their own replacement.

ATTORNEY GENERAL Robert Kennedy kicked off a speech to New York City's elite Economic Club by reading the following telegram he had recently received.

"Thanks for a good swift kick in the pocketbook. I knocked myself out helping you in the election. Got in Dutch with my boss and other employees and generally took it on the chin with a smile."

"But, oh what a different story after a few months. You pointed the finger at every industry in the country — two of which I have stock in. They are not guilty as charged, but the effect on the stock market cost me and the government plenty."

Kennedy paused and looked around the room. "Now what I want to know," he said, "is which one of you sent that telegram?"

THE MUCH-PUBLICIZED picture of Interior Secretary Stewart Udall gesturing with alpine pick into the clouds from the top of Japan's Mt. Fuji got a few comments from Japanese embassy personnel. Evidently thinking of the alpine pick, one snorted: "The only equipment needed to climb Fuji-yama is a good pair of walking shoes."

A veteran who has climbed Mt. Fuji a dozen times quietly added, "It's too bad Secretary Udall didn't attempt his climb last spring. He could have accompanied some of our school children on their class picnic."

IT CAME OUT during the visit of Korea's General Chung Hee Park, chairman of the Supreme Council, that the Koreans think their young ambassador to Washington, H. Kwon Chung, should be in very good graces with the Kennedy administration.

NATIONAL LABOR Relations Board officials say the public is sometimes quite confused on what the board is supposed to do and how far its jurisdiction extends.

A recent complainant wrote in that his truck broke down in his home state, but he managed to coax it to a nearby garage in a different state. This, he explained, would make it interstate commerce.

The garage fixed the truck, but charged what the writer claimed was an exorbitant fee of $212, including a bill for towing.

The writer figured that all this was an "unfair labor practice" and since unfair labor practices are under the jurisdiction of NLRB, the government ought to do something about it.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

The air of some of our finest suburban communities is poisoned, in fall, especially on Sundays with burning of leaves. For one thing it is a fire hazard, and for another it irritates the eyes, creates a disturbance in the entire village, from perhaps one good neighbor whose hobby seems to be, burning of leaves. Happily in Kingston, burning of leaves is not allowed. We have enough air pollution from commercial smoke-stacks in Kingston, without burning of rubbish and leaves.

There is a fine article by Alfred Putz, titled: "Burning leaves is a waste; use them to rebuild soil" in the Sunday, Nov. 12, 1961 New York Herald Tribune home and garden section on page 9. Item begins with: "You can pretty well identify an avid gardener by his or her attitude toward leaves. There are still far too many people who have yet to learn the value of these in outdoor and indoor gardening..."

One of my neighbors on Post Street Mrs. Dominic La Torre, has what most of us call, a green thumb or luck with flowers. Her roses bloom all summer right to frost. Her sunflowers were so handsome one summer, that the Minasian Super Market, North Front Street, had them on display. One thing she taught me, is to tuck in my plants for the winter, with plenty of leaves. Our dropped maple leaves on Post Street make a good winter bed for outdoor plants. Mr. Putz writes that "Leaf mold is an excellent form of humus, it holds moisture, including dissolved plant food..."

The author of the article goes in for details and chemical reactions and how leaves should be treated, broken up and what should be added. He does say that one can add some form of starch, be it only spoiled flour, stale bread or similar material, as the pile of wet leaves builds up. I know Mrs. La Torre does it. I notice if I follow her suggestions, although my Post Street lot is somewhat more shaded than hers I get pretty

Kennedy Is Criticized For Interview With Red

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — There are gains and there are losses for the United States in the forum of world opinion as a result of the published interview between President Kennedy and Khrushchev's son-in-law, who is the editor of one of Moscow's newspapers. On balance, it was a grave error for the President to have granted the interview, and, in the long run, it can do more harm than good to the cause of freedom in the world.

Aside from the fact that the Soviet editor inserted a significant sentence that wasn't in the original interview as it actually took place—and thus deprived President Kennedy of the chance to rebut the insult to the United States and his predecessor in the White House—the exchange of views revealed a retreat in diplomacy and in the negotiating position of the American government as it struggles for the support of world opinion. This goes to the heart of a vital issue—the right of peoples to determine their own destiny. Unfortunately, Mr. Kennedy conceded that, as long as the Soviet government wants to prevent the reunification of Germany, the United States will accept that situation.

This unnecessary concession will dash the hopes of the German people and indicate to the world that the United States accepts indefinitely Communist domination not only of East Germany, but of Hungary, Rumania, Poland, Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia and of the other captive nations of Europe and Asia. Mr. Kennedy's view on this all-important issue was expressed in these words:

"Now we recognize that today the Soviet Union does not intend to permit reunification, and that as long as the Soviet Union has that policy Germany will not be reunited."

But why should the United States recognize this "status quo" and announce publicly its willingness to accept Soviet domination of peoples who should be free? To do so is to weaken the moral force behind the principle of free choice—something which the free peoples of the world struggled to establish by their sacrifices in two world wars.

Mr. Kennedy said, to be sure, that the Yalta agreement and Potsdam agreement "provided for a free choice for the peoples of Eastern Europe," and that "they do not, in our opinion, today have a free choice." A little later on in the interview, however, while reaffirming the legal point that the United States "does not recognize the division of Germany," the President, for a second time during the discussion with the Russian editor, indicated that America is content to let the situation drift on indefinitely while the Communists hold fast their grip on Eastern Europe. The President said:

"I recognize that there are going to be two Germanys as long as the Soviet Union believes that that is in her interest."

This is an unfortunate statement for a President of the United States to make. It would n't have been made if the Secretary of State were at his side, and they were preparing together—as they should have been—a carefully worded statement of American policy. Impromptu, off-the-cuff comments on foreign policy, whether made in interviews with a Russian editor or at the regular press conferences at the White House are spectacular, but they can produce statements that unwittingly do damage to America's cause. This is not the way to conduct diplomacy in a nuclear age.

It will be argued that the big advantage of the interview with the Russian editor was that it got America's foot in the door and that some things were said that clearly America's position to influential sections of the Russian population. But the interview was planned for five months by the Moscow government while it argued over the exact arrangements for the meeting. It finally sent here not a news reporter to report what the President said, but a propagandist to make a lengthy counter-argument which will be surely given weight by the Russian people so as to tend to offset the points made by the President.

In the version made available to most Russians in their newspapers and over their radio, President Kennedy's statements were deliberately distorted and some were omitted entirely in summaries that were used primarily to attack the policies of the United States. So it is a question how much constructive good inside the Soviet Union was accomplished by the interview itself.

Likewise, the incident can be played up in the Soviet Union to show that what's at issue is just a simple matter of ideology. Mr. Kennedy spoke, for instance, of the right of each country to its own system, and decried Russia's attempt to "communize, in a sense, the entire world." The Russian editor chimed in with the argument that it was just a matter of differing systems.

But is it? Not a word was spoken by the President about the sending of Russian arms and equipment to Cuba, the stationing of Russian agents in every Latin-American country to stir up revolutions there, and the use of subversive tactics by the Communists in Africa as well as in Southeast Asia.

Mr. Kennedy was polite, restrained and dignified. But the words of the Russian editor, who accused the United States of interfering in Cuba and in the affairs of "many countries in the world," were not forcefully refuted, and they now will be listened to and accepted as gospel inside the Soviet Union. They will be reiterated day after day. It would be much better if America no longer minced words and, by her own radio broadcasts into Russia, told the people there every day the facts about the Soviet government's crookedness, its subversive operations, and its repressive measures in Eastern Europe, as well as its violation of postwar pledges—all of which have resulted in a Communist menace to the peace of the world. Talks to Resume In Rochester Bus Strike on Friday

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Negotiations in the month-old bus strike in this city of 320,000 are scheduled to resume Friday, slashing hopes that the dispute would be settled earlier.

In a joint statement, following talks Wednesday night, management and labor spokesmen denied a report that a tentative agreement had been reached and would be submitted today to the 600 striking drivers and mechanics.

The reported settlement proposals followed suggestions made last week by a special committee of the City Council, including a five-cent subsidy to the Rochester Transit Co., from the city for each student fare.

It would have provided an estimated $110,000-$120,000 a year to offset labor costs.

Job Rights Feud Threat To Missile Base Peace

BAL HARBOUR, Fla. (AP)—Continued feuding over job rights between rival AFL-CIO union groups raised a threat today to the uneasy labor peace arranged by the government at the nation's missile base.

Building trades unions meeting in convention here accused industrial unions of conspiring with missile manufacturers in pirating jobs claimed by the building craftsmen.

Not Public Charge

Beyond this, however, was a charge voiced privately but not as yet publicly by labor unions that defense agencies are taking advantage of a no-strike pledge to award considerably more missile contracts to non-union firms.

What has happened is that the unions were faced with U.S. Senate committee charges earlier this year that they were gouging missile contractors by frequent strikes and excessive overtime costs.

This resulted in the government arranged no-strike pledge. Since then, missile work time losses due to labor stoppages have declined drastically, but gradually have been increasing again month by month.

One of the irritants, besides the continuing job rights scrapping between rival unions, is that more non-union firms have been bidding and receiving portions of missile contracts. Before the no-strike pledge, when non-union bidders faced probable boycotts from union workers employed by other contractors on the same project, they generally steered clear of seeking shares of missile work.

Pentagon Concedes Fact

Pentagon officials concede that a larger proportion of missile work is going non-union since the no-strike pledge.

But they say they have no other choice than to award work to low-bidder. Previously, the non-union bidders were handicapped in appraising costs of possible labor difficulties.

The elements for a labor blow up are contained in this combination of growing competition among unions for jobs, plus unrest at the missile site over more non-union workers appearing on the scene.

C. J. Haggerty, president of the building trades, pledged again Wednesday that his unions won't take "any action that would embarrass or impede the national defense program."

But he said the no-strike pledge carries a government responsibility to see that building trades unions are given "fair treatment and protection of job opportunities."

Kingstonian Has National Office In WWI Veterans

HOWARD S. PANGBURN

A Kingston man, Howard S. Pangburn, secretary-treasurer of Olive Cooperative Fire Insurance Association, was recently named National Aid-de-Camp by National Commander John Bashara of the Veterans of World War I of the U.S.A. As of July 1, 1961, Pangburn was elected senior vice-commander of District 8, of New York State, comprising Ulster, Orange and Sullivan counties. He has been quartermaster and judge advocate of Ulster Barracks for the past two years.

Pangburn served four years as quartermaster and two years as commander of Joyce-Schrick Post 1386, Veterans of Foreign Wars of Kingston. He has been active in veterans organizations since 1921. It was during his term as commander that the present VFW home was purchased from the Brinner estate. Pangburn resides at 10 Clifton Terrace, is married and has two daughters and a son, all of whom are married. He also has six grandchildren. He was born in Albany where he was engaged in the insurance business and music business. He had a 40-piece band, all veterans of World War I, which he directed for years prior to moving to Kingston on April 1, 1942. Pangburn is a 32nd degree Mason and a Shriner.

Speaking in behalf of Commander Edward J. Shaver of Ulster Barracks 864, Pangburn urged all veterans of World War I to join. Meetings are on the first Monday of every month at the VFW Home at 552 Delaware Avenue.

Santa Holds No Grudge Despite Noise Warning

Whoa on the noise, said the sheriff though. "The jurors in the courthouse can't rightly judge."

Santa toned down and held no grudge.

4 and 9 PC Increases

City, Rural Crime Up In First Nine Months

WASHINGTON (AP)—Crime continued to increase in both urban and rural areas during the first nine months of this year.

This is the gist of the FBI's uniform crime reports for the period, announced today by Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy. City crime jumped 4 per cent over the same period in 1960, while the rural increase was 9 per cent.

In making his report, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover pointed out that the 4 per cent city rise is especially significant in light of substantial increases and new peaks in all crime categories in 1960.

A sharp rise in suburban areas helped account for the increased city crime. The over-all percentage rise in cities in the 25,000 to 50,000 population group, many of which comprise the country's suburban areas, was 10 per cent.

An "alarming" 23 per cent increase in forcible rape was reported by cities with populations from 250,000 to 500,000. The 30 cities in this group reported 935 rapes, compared with 761 during the same period last year.

At the same time, forcible rapes for all cities reported declined 1 per cent, while increases were chalked up in all other crime categories. Included were a 4 per cent increase in murders, larcenies of $50 and over and auto thefts, a 2 per cent rise in robberies and aggravated assaults and a 5 per cent increase in burglaries.

The statistics were supplied to the FBI by police agencies throughout the country.

Churchill Is 87 And Little Grumpy

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—Douglas Solitto, 18, was doing "the twist" in front of a pizza shop's plate glass window Wednesday night when he lost his balance and crashed through the window. He suffered only a slight cut on the cheek.

Hamster Gets Drunk As Coconut Ferments

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Cheeko, the pet hamster in the L. L. Rozzell household, wasn't feeling well Wednesday.

His eyes were glazed and blood-shot. He wobbled when he tried to walk.

The family thought about calling a veterinarian until they noticed a pungent odor coming from Cheeko's cage.

Several days ago Cheeko was given part of a fresh coconut. He ate his fill, then carted the leftovers into his cage.

The remains had fermented in a water dish.

Cheeko wasn't sick—he was drunk.

Would Drop Legal Name

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actor Anthony Franciosa wants to drop his legal name of Anthony George Papaleo in favor of his professional name.

He asked Superior Court for permission Wednesday claiming the dual names cause confusion in his business, social and professional affairs.

Shoemaker Weds

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Willie Shoemaker, one of the nation's top jockeys, is honeymooning today. Shoemaker, 30, was married Wednesday to Bessie May Masterson, 29, a statuesque Texas blonde, in the bride's apartment. It was the second marriage for both. The couple flew to Honolulu Wednesday night.

Fallout Shelter Meeting Dec. 11, Speakers Named

SHANDAKEN, Nov. 30—Arrangements with New York State Civil Defense Commission have been completed for speakers for the fallout shelters meeting to be held Monday evening, Dec. 11 at 8 at Onteora Central Boiceville.

John Sayers, shelters architect, State Department of Education, coordinating with civil defense will talk on "Shelter and the School." Sayers will discuss possibilities at Onteora where approximately 1,700 might be sheltered. He will talk on the basis of existing drawings after personally viewing the whole property.

Fred Strabbert, civil defense and area representative for Ulster County, will talk on the "which was recently passed to make monies available to towns, or districts, to aid in covering shelter costs. He also will explain in some detail the advantages of shelter under the several conditions which might apply in the event of nuclear attack.

The third speaker will be Miss Florence Louth, chairman Women's Activities, Department of Civil Defense. Miss Louth will explain woman's part in the shelter program as it applies to schools.

Civil Defense locally will be represented by Major Edgar Timmerman and Deputy Charles Arnold, both located at the Kingston office.

The speakers will take part in a question and answer period after their talks are completed. The December 11 meeting, by agreement with State Civil Defense at Albany, will be open to interested Boards of Education or school administrators from contiguous areas.

At Albany, Civil Defense reports a constantly increasing interest in shelters for schools. Much information with regard to fallout and its effects is lacking at the community level with consequent misunderstanding of the worth of shelters in the event of emergency.

Joseph P. Hennessy, deputy director, New York State Civil Defense Commission, said:

"All of the residents who comprise the Onteora Central School District should avail themselves of the opportunity to obtain reliable information with regard to fallout shelter protection as it could apply to Onteora and other schools in the district."

"This coming meeting on December 11 will have three principal speakers who will discuss separate phases of shelter protection. The matter of discussing fallout shelters is of prime importance and should not be delayed. Action taken now may prevent the loss of many lives in the event of a nuclear attack. This Commission is advising the building of adequate shelters for all of the schools so that boys and girls can be well protected in cases where time would not permit them to get from school to their home shelters."

"A bill passed by the State Legislature on November 9 now makes it easy for schools to build adequate shelter facilities. The cost of an approved type shelter would be borne by the State to the extent of $25 per planned shelter occupant, but not more than 50 per cent of the total cost. However, the decision to provide such shelter is the responsibility of the taxpayers in the school district."

"This planned meeting is a big step in the right direction to make it possible to save lives in an emergency."

The forthcoming meeting is designed to bring to the School District as much reliable and factual information as possible within the meeting time. Residents of the district, properly and factually informed may, at a later date, express their will with regard to shelters for schools. No expression will be attempted on December 11.

School Cracks Down On Knees, Hemlines

BRENTWOOD, N.Y. (AP) — Brentwood High School officials have cracked down on girls' exposed knees, with 37 students being suspended for too-high hemlines.

Warnings didn't seem to do any good, so girls whose skirts were worn too short were sent earlier this week from their classes to the principal's office. The owners of the 37 pairs of knees were sent home for two days. Some of the girls may return today, and the remainder Friday.

Harvey S. Erickman, high school vice principal, said Wednesday night that he had received phone calls from a few irate mothers. "But in general," he added, "nearly all the parents are with us."

Erickman noted that the suspended girls don't have a leg to stand on, since a skirt-length ruling was drafted last spring with the aid of the student council, and the decision appears in the student handbook. The handbook states that skirts go no higher than mid-knee.

Many fashion experts say the current style puts hemlines just below the kneecap. A few fashion houses draw the line at mid-knee, and no higher.

You wonder how some people can remember all the stories they do and forget that they've told them before.

Bridge Approach Bids Due Jan. 25

Bids for building a west-side approach road at the site of the Newburgh-Beacon bridge, now under construction, will be received in Albany for the second time on Jan. 25, it was learned today.

A recent call for bids brought none, and the New York State Bridge Authority decided at a recent meeting to ask the state public works department to prepare new estimates and readvertise.

The authority rejected bids, the lowest of which totaled $348,000 for construction of an office and garage building at the bridge site because the sum was above the total budget sum earmarked for the purpose. The authority decided to redesign the structure and readvertise for bids in the spring.

Church Appointment

BOSTON (AP) — Rev. Raymond C. Hopkins, minister of the Universalist Unitarian Church of Brockton, Mass., has been named the first executive vice president of the Unitarian Universalist Association.

Glenn's Earth

that spelled finish to Enos' flight. As his spacecraft glided over the tracking station at Mueha, Australia, scientists took quick note of disturbing radio reports from the automatic watchdog equipment in the capsule.

There was trouble in the small gas-shooting jets that helped stabilize the craft in its flight. And there was trouble, too, in certain electrical equipment.

3rd Thought Too Risky

In seconds the information was reported to flight headquarters at Cape Canaveral. There, with the help of computers, flight officials decided a third orbit was too risky.

The tracking station at Point Arguello, Calif., was notified and a control officer there named Arnold Aldrich ordered a radio signal sent aloft. The signal triggered slow-down rockets at the base of the spacecraft, and they fired over the U.S. West Coast, slowing the 17,500-mile-an-hour speed of the capsule.

Its speed reduced, it began a fall to earth. The USS Stormes picked up chimp and capsule and steamed toward Bermuda, where both will be carefully examined. In his two orbits of the earth, Enos ranged as high as 146 miles and as low as 99 miles.

Performed Tasks Well

Enos performed his task well, initial data showed, identifying unlike shapes flashed in windows before him, pulling levers at certain intervals. Sometimes his reward was a sip of water from a nipple, or a banana flavored pellet. Sometimes his penalty for a wrong answer was a slight shock on the foot.

But Enos had drawbacks because he isn't a man. He couldn't control the spacecraft as a man could. Yet close study of his behavior and his physical status during the flight—especially the three hours of weightlessness—will help spell out the sort of stresses man will have to face.

Glenn Oldest of Group

Glenn, a red-haired, but balding 40-year-old Marine lieutenant colonel oldest of the astronauts, will face in his flight more than four hours of weightlessness. Should he be unable to make the ride for some reason, Carpenter, 35, will step in.

As technical director for that flight, officials named Alan B. Shepard Jr., one of America's only two space veterans. The other, Virgil I. Grissom, will be technical director for the second manned flight team of Slayton and Schirra.

Even these first planned orbital missions by Glenn and company are considerably less than that already achieved by Soviet Cosmonaut Gherman Titov. Titov circled the earth 17 times in 25 hours before landing safely again on earth.

Put Workers . . .

to employability and employment with all deliberate speed. No longer do we limit our concern on his behalf to stemming with dollar bills the breach caused by his inability gainfully to work, thus allowing his self-respect, confidence and sense of independence to dribble away.

"Our chief purpose in workmen's compensation, as I see it, is to look upon and treat the injured worker as a person with an impairment to be corrected, eliminated or alleviated; and not to look upon and treat him as a parcel of liability to be bargained over, then reciprocally bought and sold at the most convenient price."

Church Council Schedules Events

The Saugerties Area Council of Churches met on Monday night at the Saugerties Methodist Church where a supper was served by the ladies of the congregation.

The Rev. Joseph Rainear, host pastor, offered grace prior to the dinner, and the Rev. Alvin Mersersmith, pastor of the council conducted the meeting which followed.

A report on the Thanksgiving Eve services held in the member churches was given by each minister and it was noted that a total of over 600 parishioners attended the services held at St. Paul's Atonement Lutheran, Reformed Church, Saugerties, Methodist, Plattekill Reformed and the Congregational Church.

It was also announced that a bookshelf has been reserved at the Saugerties Public Library for religious books and literature, and members of the congregation of the Saugerties Council of Churches are requested to donate books for this purpose. The Rev. Walter Cowen of the Atonement Lutheran Church will be in charge.

A decision was made to hold a Christmas Carol Sing around the community Christmas tree in the village. Donald Fellows, director of the Atonement Lutheran Choir will direct. The date will be announced later.

Sunday, Feb. 4, the council will conduct a church school workers conference. The afternoon session will be conducted by the clergy, and the evening session will consist of a panel discussion with members of the clergy and lay members participating. The evening supper will be provided by the council. David Cunningham will assist the clergy as a panel member, and will also serve on the committee for arrangements.

The council discussed the establishing of a scholarship to be given to a Saugerties High School senior or seniors who plan to enter the Christian ministry or plan to enter full-time Christian work, such as a director of religious education. Further plans will be announced as details are formulated.

The next meeting of the Saugerties Area Council of Churches will be held at the Atonement Lutheran Church Jan. 22.

Francello Team Wins Attendance Contest of Lions

The Saugerties Lions Club attendance contest ended last Monday evening at the Flamingo with the winning team captained by Louis P. Francello and known as the "Steak Hounds" enjoying a fine steak dinner. Frank Costello's team known as the "Bean Eaters" by reason of their losing the contest and in accordance with the attendance rules, treated their victorious opponents and were served beans.

The Christmas Party program was discussed and Steve Stycos, as he has for so many years in the past, once again volunteered his services as general co-ordinator.

Following the general meeting the board of directors meeting was held.

County College Group Proposes List of Trustees

The Saugerties committee for a community college met with Town Supervisor Peter Williams at the Town Hall on Tuesday evening to compile a list of names of qualified persons who may be considered by the Board of Supervisors as trustees for the proposed Ulster County Community College.

Present were Vincent Amrod, chairman of the committee; Miss Grace Andersen, chairman of the Citizens' Interest Committee; Miss A. Frances Larned director of guidance at the Saugerties High School; Joseph DiDomenico, president of the Saugerties Junior Chamber of Commerce; John Fitzpatrick a member of the Jaycees and Mrs. Howard France, president of the Saugerties Parent-Teacher Association. Persons who were approved at this meeting will be contacted and if they accept, their names will be presented to the supervisors for consideration for the positions.

Biddy League Leaders Needed

A second appeal is being made for adult leaders to attend an organizational meeting for the Saugerties Biddy League. President Fred Seither has called a meeting for Sunday 1 p. m. in the firemen's meeting room, Municipal Auditorium.

The Biddy League trains the 8 to 12 year old boys in the fundamentals of basketball and only through willingness of adult leaders can this be accomplished. Seither said. Last year more than 140 boys played on 17 teams in the league, both varsity and JV's. Each team played once or twice each week and also had entries in the New York State tournaments.

Any area man interested in helping may attend the Sunday meeting.

Mt. Marion Service

The Rev. Henry Reinwald of the Plattekill Reformed Church, Mt. Marion, will conduct morning devotions at 8 a. m. Sunday over station WHGQ.

Sunday school will be at 10 a. m. at the church. Family Sunday will be observed at the 11 a. m. service. A Scripture verse Bible marker of woven silk will be given to those attending. The Rev. Mr. Reinwald will conduct afternoon devotions at Dale Sanitarium at 1 p. m.

The annual congregational meeting will be held at the church, 6 p. m. Two new elders and two deacons will be elected by the congregation. The budget for Dec. 1961-62 will be adopted. Following the meeting a Christmas Carol Sing will be held. The manger scene on the church lawn will be lighted for the Christmas season.

P-TA Benefit Movie

The Saugerties P-TA benefit movie at the Orpheum Theater continues tonight and tomorrow, featuring two technicolor shows, Two Rode Together, with James Stewart, Richard Widmark and Shirley Jones, and Walt Disney's Dumbo.

Tickets may be purchased from any student in grades 4 through 8, or from committee members Miss May Evans, Mrs. Norman Nitschke, Edward Ehrmann, David Goble, James Luther, Richard Redder or Robert Shapiro. Only tickets bought through these people will benefit the scholarship fund of the P-TA.

Story Hour Program

The Junior League of Kingston will present the program for the Saturday story hour at the Saugerties Public Library this week. Mrs. Donald Fox will illustrate terrariums to five to seven year old children. The session begins at 10:30 a. m.

There will be no story hour Dec. 23 and 30 because of the holidays. The Saugerties Jaycees sponsor story hour as one of its community projects.

Area Notes

Lawrence F. Dixon of Montgomery Street is reported convalescing at the Benedictine Hospital where he has been a patient for the past two weeks.

the maximum time which the law permits, a year in jail.

Other Cases Adjourned

A dozen other cases were called by District Attorney David W. Corwin and adjourned to December 11 at 10 a. m.

When the Cleaster Hardin, second degree assault case was called, Hubert Richter, appearing by assignment as defense counsel moved the case for trial. District Attorney Corwin told the Court the jurors had been discharged for the term. The next available jury would be, at the February term of County Court.

Richter then moved for dismissal of the indictment on the grounds of failure to prosecute. District Attorney Corwin said he had attempted to get the case to trial but counsel had been unavailable. Richter replied he had been assigned on November 20, and was ready for trial. Corwin replied Hardin had been arraigned on November 6, said he would get counsel but had not done so and later asked for assignment of counsel. When his motion for dismissal of the indictment was declined, Richter moved to have bail set. Judge Mino adjourned the matter of fixing bail to permit a review of the facts and meanwhile remanded Hardin to jail.

Court recessed until December 11 at 10 a. m.

Flames Destroy Home of Writer; Loss Is $20,000

Flames early Wednesday destroyed the home of Walter Chappell, a free lance photographer and writer, on Dog Tail Corners Road, Wingdale. Damage was estimated at upwards of $20,000.

Sergeant Hugh Brennan of the Dutchess County sheriff's office, said Chappell and his wife, Nancy, were in New York City when the fire broke out. Their nine-year-old son was sleeping in an adjoining building. Wingdale and Dover Plains firemen were at the scene, but the fire apparently had gained such headway before firemen made their way along snow covered highways to the Chappell home, the residence couldn't be saved.

Chief Frank Watley Jr., of Dover Plains, said firemen prevented the flames from spreading to a nearby building where the boy was sleeping.

A pet dog perished in the flames, but firemen managed to save two cats. Brennan reported the fire was discovered by Robert Nichols, a neighbor of the Chappells. He summoned Wingdale firemen and later Dover Plains fire companies were called to assist. Brennan said the residence was valued at $15,000 and contained $5,000 worth of photography equipment.

Chilly Air Hits Dixie Sections

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Frosty weather nipped most of Dixie today as temperatures dipped to new lows for the season in many sections.

The chilly air spread northward from the snow-covered sections of the Northeast and the cold belt in the northern Midwest into Virginia, the Carolinas, Mississippi, Louisiana, Georgia, Alabama, the eastern half of the nation. The 22 reading in Richmond, Va., Greensboro, N.C., and Louisville, Ky., was only a couple of degrees warmer than Anchorage, Alaska.

In Florida, Tallahassee shivered in near-freezing temperatures with the mercury at 34. Miami's low was 38 after Wednesday's high in the 70s.

But the coldest weather again was in the northern Midwest, with readings around zero from northern Montana into northern Minnesota.

The storms which piled snow up to 18 inches in parts of the Northeast tapered off to flurries during the night. In the Midwest, a belt of freezing rain and drizzle extended from Wisconsin into central South Dakota, Tennessee and Kentucky. Some near freezing weather extended into sections of northern Florida. The cold air in the Southland was part of the huge mass of frigid air which covered most of

Cardinal Farley School Founder Dies on Tuesday

Word has been received of the death in New Rochelle of Brother Patrick E. O'Ryan, 73, a founder and first superior at Cardinal Farley Military Academy in Rhinecliff. Brother O'Ryan, a native of Ireland, died of a heart attack in New Rochelle Hospital on Tuesday. He was assistant professor of classical languages at Iona College, New Rochelle.

Brother O'Ryan who joined the Christian Brothers of Ireland in 1904, came to the United States in 1913. He was a graduate of St. Mary's College in Halifax, Nova Scotia, and of Fordham University. He was on the Iona faculty in 1941 and 1942 and returned there in 1952 after serving at Leo High School in Chicago, Power Memorial Academy of New York and Iona Preparatory School. He is survived by a brother, Dennis O'Ryan of Anderson, S. C.

A high Mass of requiem will be offered Friday at 10 a. m. in the chapel of Iona College. Burial in Christian Brothers of Ireland Cemetery, West Park, about 1 p. m.

WALLKILL NEWS

Lions to Present Comedy Saturday

WALLKILL — Tickets may be obtained from any member of the Lions Club or the Foot-lighters for the semi-annual production, George Washington Slept Here. Curtain time is 8:15 Saturday.

Sponsored by the Lions Club, the show will benefit the new community ice and roller skating rink being completed in the village playground park.

Yule Lighting Program Slated

The annual Christmas lighting program and children's party will be held on Monday, December 4th in the triangle in the center of Wallkill. From 6:30 to 7 p. m., Mrs. C. E. Penney will play the Christmas chimes from the Wallkill Reformed Church tower. At 7 p. m., the program will begin with Christmas records, and the singing of "Silent Night" by Mrs. Wallace Palen. The combined junior and high school choir of the Wallkill Reformed Church will offer three Christmas carols under the direction of Mrs. Louise Didsbury. Santa will be there and his Chamber helpers will distribute the Christmas bags of candy, apples and oranges for the children.

The Christmas tree donated by Mrs. Harold Alsford will be decorated by the American Legion Rose-Sheeley Post. Figures in the square were donated by Dr. Charles Beattie and George Hammesfahr. The appreciation of the chamber is also extended to the Wallkill Fire Department for the use of the fire truck and the cooperation of the fire police. The village constabulary force assists as well as Mrs. Dorothy Titus who donates her office each year to the chamber.

In addition, the thanks of the chamber is extended to all of the chamber members who help in many ways.

The chamber will also sponsor its annual house and lawn lighting contest again this year and four awards will be given to the winners, following the judges selection between Christmas and New Years.

4-H Club Officers

A reorganizational meeting of the Shawangunk Senior Girls 4-H Club was held recently at the Wallkill Central School. Officers for 1962 were elected as follows:

President, Sharon Schoonmaker; vice president, Estelle Cleveland; secretary, Linda McCord; treasurer, Linda Tutthill.

The girls decided to do adventures in Dinners as their group project for this year, and several individual projects were also selected by each girl.

The members of this group are Sharon Schoonmaker, Beverly Schoonmaker, Estelle Cleveland, Linda Rhodes, Linda Tutthill, Joan Wood and Linda McCord.

Celebrate Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Terwilliger are celebrating their 56th wedding anniversary this week. A Mass was offered in St. Benedict's Church Sunday to honor them. The Terwilligers were married Nov. 29, 1905, in St. Charles Church, Ireland Corners. They have a son, Leonard of Poughkeepsie, and two grandchildren.

Reformed Church Notes

Thursday 3 p. m. a junior choir rehearsal will be held and 4 p. m. high school choir will rehearse in the church. At 7:30 p. m., the weekly senior choir rehearsal will be held in the church.

Sunday 10 a. m. the regular Sunday school worship will be held with Harry Vogt, officiating. At 11 a. m. the Hour of Worship will convene with the Rev. Walter N. Van Popering officiating.

Sunday, Dec. 10 at 11 a. m. a nominating ballot will be taken for the officers of elder and deacon for the year at the church. All members of the congregation may attend.

Center of Controversy

Albania, a center of controversy in the Communist bloc, has a population of 1,581,000 living in an area a little larger than Maryland. According to legend, Albanians are descended from an eagle. Hence the Albanian flag shows a two-headed eagle on a solid red field.

Trimmer Got Trimmed

CASPER, Wyo. (AP) — Even his name didn't help O. J. Trimmer of Lander win an election. He lost a bid for the presidency of the Wyoming Barbers Association.

Son's Fate Is Uncertain

Major Problems Face Rocky On Return From Grim Hunt

By ROBERT T. GRAY

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Personal and political problems awaited Gov. Rockefeller on his return from a grim and fruitless search for his youngest son, 23-year-old Michael Rockefeller.

The question of whether the son is dead or alive could go unanswered indefinitely. He has been lost since he dived into waters off the coast of Dutch New Guinea Nov. 19 from a disabled boat.

Michael was on an anthropological trip. His fate will continue to be among the governor's chief, private concerns.

Marital Problems

Also ahead of the governor is a divorce action in which his marriage of 31 years will be dissolved.

The litigation almost certainly will be among the most publicized divorce cases of modern times.

Speculation on the cause of the divorce and whether the governor plans to remarry will be rampant.

Rockefeller commands public attention on three counts — as governor of the most populous state in the nation, as a possible candidate for the Republican nomination for president in 1964, and as a member of one of the world's most wealthy families.

Ignored Voting Totals

In politics, Rockefeller faces problems as leader of the Republican party in the state and as a candidate for re-election. The governor and GOP State Chairman L. Judson Morhouse issued the usual, exuberant claims of great gains in the 1961 elections, but they ignored the voting totals and their statewide import.

They professed to see highly favorable signs in the fact that Robert F. Wagner suffered a sharp cut in his plurality in being re-elected mayor of New York City, that a Republican was elected mayor of Buffalo and the GOP retained control of Syracuse.

Dems Hold Rochester

Republicans received a minority vote in the state's four largest cities — New York, Buffalo, Rochester and Syracuse — and lost the top contest in Nassau County, long considered a GOP bastion. There were more than two candidates in the New York, Buffalo and Syracuse races.

Democrats took control of the Rochester city council for the first time in 24 years.

Rockefeller, while attaching significance to the cut in Wagner's winning margin, refused to discuss his own political future in terms of total votes.

Disregards Plurality

As far as his own re-election bid was concerned, he said, winning was the most important thing and he did not plan to concern himself over whether he did so by more or less than his 575,000-vote edge in 1958.

In addition to the separate personal and political problems confronting the governor, he faces a combination of the two — the extent, if any, to which his marital troubles will hamper his vote-getting appeal.

Rockefeller continues, of course, to draw substantial political strength from the lack of unity in the Democratic state organization.

Efforts to resolve internal conflicts have been among the chief business of the Democratic organization for the last three years. As a result, little apparent effort has been given to preparing a challenge for Rockefeller.

Hamilton Gets Grant
NEW YORK (AP)—A $400,000 gift to further international studies at Hamilton College was announced Wednesday night at a dinner marking the Clinton school's 150th anniversary. Mrs. Henry P. Bristol, widow of the former board chairman of Bristol-Myers Co. made the gift to endow a chair in memory of her husband, an alumnus and trustee of Hamilton.

Boys' Club Opens Winter Season; Lists Activities

Kingston Boys' Club opened its 15th winter season of activity this past week.

Karl L. Pitcock, president of the board of directors, said a varied program has been planned so that activities are held throughout the scheduled day.

Classes for the winter season include art and simple crafts, dancing, model-making and woodworking. Other games are scheduled on a weekly basis. The library is open during all scheduled hours, and movies are shown each week. Friday evenings, a gym program is conducted at George Washington School.

John Holochuck, executive director of the Boys' Club, is assisted in these activities by Mrs. Christopher Murphy, Richard Derrenbacher and Ray Havens. Kingston Boys' Club is a member service of the local Community Chest.

Greene County Youth Freed in $10,000 Bail

An Oak Hill youth, John Dedrick, 16 arrested by Leeds state police November 17 on charges of alleged arson in connection with the setting of three barn fires, was released in $10,000 property bond bail set by Greene County Judge Roy C. Moon.

According to Leeds BCI, he is charged with setting fires to barns on the Ralph Hull property on November 16. The estimated loss was $15,000. BCI also said the youth was involved in a barn fire the previous night at the rear of the summer home of N. Braddock, now living at East Greenbush.

School Officials Decide to Change Routes of Buses

Officials of the Wappingers Central School District said Wednesday that starting today all school buses will be rerouted around the disputed New Hamburg drawbridge spanning Wappingers Creek between the Towns of Poughkeepsie and Wappinger.

For the last few days mothers of some children riding school buses across the bridge stopped the buses, escorted their children across the bridge and then permitted them to board the bus and continue on to school. The bridge had been unofficially reported as unsafe.

School Superintendent Joseph Kegan said yesterday that the safety of the bridge in no way enters into the decision of the Board of Education to reroute school buses. He stated that children riding the buses were becoming increasingly disturbed emotionally by the buses being stopped and their friends being removed while the majority of the children remained on the buses and were transported across the span.

Dutchess County Highway Superintendent Edgar M. Petrovits contends the bridge is safe for a 10-ton load and that the largest school bus, loaded with children, weighs seven tons.

Hudson Tax Increases

Official tax rate in the city of Hudson for 1962 will be $28.50 a $1,000 assessed valuation, according to City Treasurer Joseph D. Moy. The new rate is $1.38 above the present $27.12 a $1,000. The amount to be raised by taxes next year is $404,736.29.

Hurleyville Man, 4 Others Charged In Fatal Robbery

HOBBS, N.M. (AP)—Five persons, four from Hobbs and one from Hurleyville, N.Y., were held without bond today in the robbery-slaying of Dr. Victor G. Cook, 53, last week.

Steve Patlin Schwartz, 21, of Hurleyville, and Taiton Tipton, 19, of Hobbs, were charged earlier with murder, armed robbery and conspiracy.

Asst. Dist. Atty. C. N. Morris said he filed conspiracy charges Wednesday against Andrew Leonard (Sonny) Miller, 21, and Philip Ray Dyer, 20, both of Hobbs. Dyer was also charged with murder and armed robbery, Morris said.

Charges of being an accessory after the fact were filed against Mrs. Melba Joyce Harper.

Morris said all five had made oral or written admissions in connection with the case. Dr. Felix Schwartz of Hurleyville, N.Y., arrived Tuesday night to see his son, Steve. The younger Schwartz will be arraigned after he retains legal counsel, Morris said.

Railroad Retirement Interviews Scheduled

A representative of the Railroad Retirement Board will be at the Post Office, Main Building, 496 Broadway, Room 3, Kingston, on Wednesday, Dec. 13, from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m.

He will assist the railroad worker, his wife, widow or survivors in retirement with survivor problems and answer any inquiries which they may have in connection with the Railroad Retirement and Unemployment Insurance Acts.

Delay Sheriff Action

Orange County's Republican Executive Committee has decided to delay a recommendation to Governor Rockefeller on the appointment of a new sheriff until after the first of next year. GOP sources indicated there are two reasons for waiting until 1962—in deference to the memory of the late Sheriff Ernest W. Schoonmaker, one of three men asphyxiated in a hunting camp tragedy last week, and to await reorganization of the Board of Supervisors on Jan. 1.

Dutch Government Plans 400 Shelters

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP)—Premier Jan de Quay told Parliament Wednesday the Dutch government plans to build 400 public nuclear fallout shelters in 1962.

Each shelter will have room for 100 persons. De Quay said there now are 262 shelters in the Netherlands with room for 50 persons in each. The country's population is more than 11.5 million.

Boy Sees Santa And Dies Happy

LONDON (AP)—Seven-year-old Tony Bigmore saw Santa Claus for the first time Wednesday and died happy.

Tony, only child of a mailman, was born with a hole in his heart. Because of his frail condition he had never been able before to go to the stores and meet the jolly old man with the red suit and the beard.

Five months ago he underwent an operation which it was hoped would correct the heart ailment.

Wednesday Tony went to a toy store with his parents, confided to Santa Claus that he wanted a toy train and laughed happily while one was demonstrated.

Suddenly he clutched his left chest and collapsed.

A doctor in the crowd pronounced the child dead.

Sees Peaceful Aims

GREENWOOD, Miss. (AP)—"Minutemen" organizations are being formed throughout the South to meet integration attempts, says a Mississippi Citizens Council leader.

Robert B. Patterson, executive secretary of the Association of Citizens Councils in Mississippi, called the community level groups "a nonviolent counteraction to the organized nonviolent law-breakers."

"Their purpose is to peacefully assemble on short notice at any given point within their community to demonstrate a citizens protest against any invasion of our institutions."

Former Pharmacy Chairman Goes For Probe Idea

HARRISBURG (AP)—Gov. Lawrence's plan to examine operations of the State Board of Pharmacy is an excellent idea, the former chairman of the agency said today.

"I think he will find it quite interesting," Sol Turnoff said in an interview. He added: "I don't think there is any question about what he will find. I think the governor will find that the board didn't make any bad decisions until Aug. 1. Since then, it hasn't done anything except things which were not in the public interest."

Meantime, Republican State Chairman George I. Bloom in a statement called for a legislative investigation of the board.

He said Lawrence's office "is mixed up in the shenanigans right up to its neck."

Carnegie Hall Wowed By Grand Old Opry

NEW YORK (AP)—Staid old Carnegie Hall resounded Wednesday night with "Grand Old Opry"—Nashville, Tenn., style—and a sell-out crowd clapped its approval.

It was the first New York appearance of the troupe from Nashville's radio station WSM, and the performance was for the benefit of the local musicians aid society. The hall was kept jumping with banjo ballads, hillbilly stomping, clog dancing, and fast and furious fiddling.

C-H Among Firms To Work on New Fuel Development

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Seven New York State electric utilities engaged in joint research to develop a large-scale, nuclear-fuel generating plant have contracted for development of a fuel said to show special promise.

The utilities signed a $1,440,000 contract with North American Aviation Inc. to speed the development of an advanced type of fuel used in sodium-cooled reactors, the Niagara Mohawk Power Corp., one of the seven utilities, announced today.

The seven, joined in the effort as Empire State Atomic Development Associates Inc., already have studies under way to determine the economic feasibility of switching eventually from coal and water to atomic power for generating electricity.

The other members of the group are Consolidated Edison Co. of New York, Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp., Long Island Light & Gas Corp., New York State Electric & Gas Corp., Orange & Rockland Utilities Inc., and Rochester Gas & Electric Corp.

Buffalo Loss Is $200,000 From 6-Story Blaze

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — Fire caused an estimated $200,000 damage to a six-story building in a downtown business district Wednesday night.

Three firefighters were injured slightly when heat-loosened bricks broke loose and fell to the street.

The building was occupied by Hoddick & Taylor Inc., a floor covering company.

The cause was not immediately determined.

THEN THERE WERE 12—Ushers and bridesmaids were in good supply for the wedding of Mrs. Rita Galvin to John Melvin, of Parma, Ohio, a suburb of Cleveland. The four children of Mrs. Galvin, 34, widowed for three years, became the stepbrothers and sisters of the eight offspring of Mr. Melvin, 43, who became a widower 18 months ago. The Galvins range in age from 5 to 11; the Melvins from 4 to 19. The new family will all live in the Melvin home.

School Activities

Maria Glorioso, president of the New Paltz Central High School Girls' Tumbling Club, presented to Stewart Glenn, treasurer of the student council, a trampoline purchased by the Tumbling Club.

The girls, under the supervision of Miss Jean Brownlee, sponsored various fund raising activities. They were greatly helped to reach their goal of $600 by receiving gifts from the Agricultural Association, senior class of 1961, and an anonymous donor.

The girls donated the trampoline to the school, where it will be used by the Tumbling Club and the physical education class.

Over 600 pupils, teachers and parents attended the traditional Thanksgiving dinner at the New Paltz Central School cafeteria recently.

The school lunch program provides meals for several hundred students each day in an attractive surroundings.

Jack Randall of the New York State Employment Department recently administered aptitude tests for seniors in the central school who are not planning on further education. After scoring tests he will return to the school for individual talks.

Social Study class will have a field trip to New York City Dec. 6. Buses will leave New Paltz 7:45 a. m., returning at about 11:30 p. m. Visits will be made to the Metropolitan Museum of Art, Broadway plays and Radio City Music Hall.

Santa Holds no Grudge

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP) — While Santa and the kids rode around in his sled, the loud speaker blared "Merry Christmas, ho, ho, ho."

Whoa on the noise, said the sheriff though.

"The jurors in the court house can't rightly judge."

Santa toned down and held no grudge.

Progress Reported On Scout Drive in Ulster and Greene

Two Rip Van Winkle Boy Scout Council towns have completed their drives and five others are ahead of last year in the current campaign for 1962 operating funds, reports Chairman Gifford Beal.

The drive is being conducted in Greene and Ulster Counties outside of the Ulster County Community Chest area of Kingston, Saugerties, New Paltz and Rosendale.

The two pace-setting towns are Windham and Jewett. The five towns which are ahead of last year are Marletown, Durham, Hunter, Woodstock and Shawangunk.

"All other towns should aim for 100 per cent campaign card coverage," said General Solicitation Drive Chairman Beal. "A successful drive depends upon the timely use of these cards; and the operation of a council offering the fullest service to area Scouting depends upon a successful drive."

"The many services that are offered by the Rip Van Winkle Council are supported by funds derived from this annual campaign and from the Ulster County Community Chest," he continued. "Without the funds, the promotion of a well-balanced, adequate Scouting program for the 4,000 scouts in Greene and Ulster Counties will be seriously curtailed."

"These services are vital to a Scouting organization: training, guidance and service to more than 110 Cub packs, Scout troops and Explorer units; extensive camping facilities operating year-round at Camp Tri-Mount in East Jewett; council and district activities to conduct unit programs, encourage membership and provide recognition for volunteer leaders; a council office and staff to administer the Scouting program, maintain records, and offer professional guidance and leadership in all areas of Scouting in the Rip Van Winkle Council," said Chairman Beal.

More than $700 has been turned in the early phase of the Leadership Gifts section of the council fund drive, reports General Sherman Hasbrouck, Leadership Gifts chairman. "This phase of the campaign should be approaching the windup in the near future," added Gen-Hasbrouck.

Boy Scout News Pack 13 Cubs Observe Magic Theme at Meeting

Cub Scout Magic was the theme of the monthly meeting of Pack 13 held at School 7 this week. Cubmaster Robert Winne opened the meeting and Den 2 conducted the opening ceremony.

The Cubs of Den 4 then displayed what they had made this month and performed some acts of magic.

Group singing was led by Den Mother, Mrs. Robert Ackert, with Cubs and their families participating. An address was given by Charles Arnold, deputy of Civil Defense, and a film was shown entitled "Fallout and How to Protect Yourself Against It." Mr. Arnold conducted a question and answer period with the Cubs after the film.

Cubmaster Winne assisted by Webelos Den Leader Robert Hillis presented the following advancements.

Bobcat badges were given to James Kakoulis and Joseph Sottile with their parents participating in the ceremony.

Silver arrow on Bear, Robert Davis; assistant denner, Daniel Guzewich; service star one year, Brian Devine.

Dens 2 and 6 both gave skits on magic feats. Den 5 was awarded "Cubby" for the best attendance. Cubmaster Winne displayed the award which was presented to him at the past roundtable meeting. It was a plaque with the inscription, Honor Unit Fall Roundup.

Coming events are as follows: Committee meeting Dec. 12 at Martin Sior's home, 147 Fairview Avenue at 8 p. m.

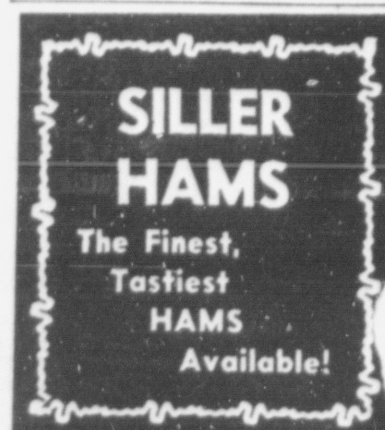

Roundtable meeting Dec. 17 at Port Ewen Reformed Church, Salem Street.

Next pack meeting Dec. 17 at School 7, at 7 p. m. Theme for next month will be, Follows, Helps and Gives.

Japan Digs Tennessee

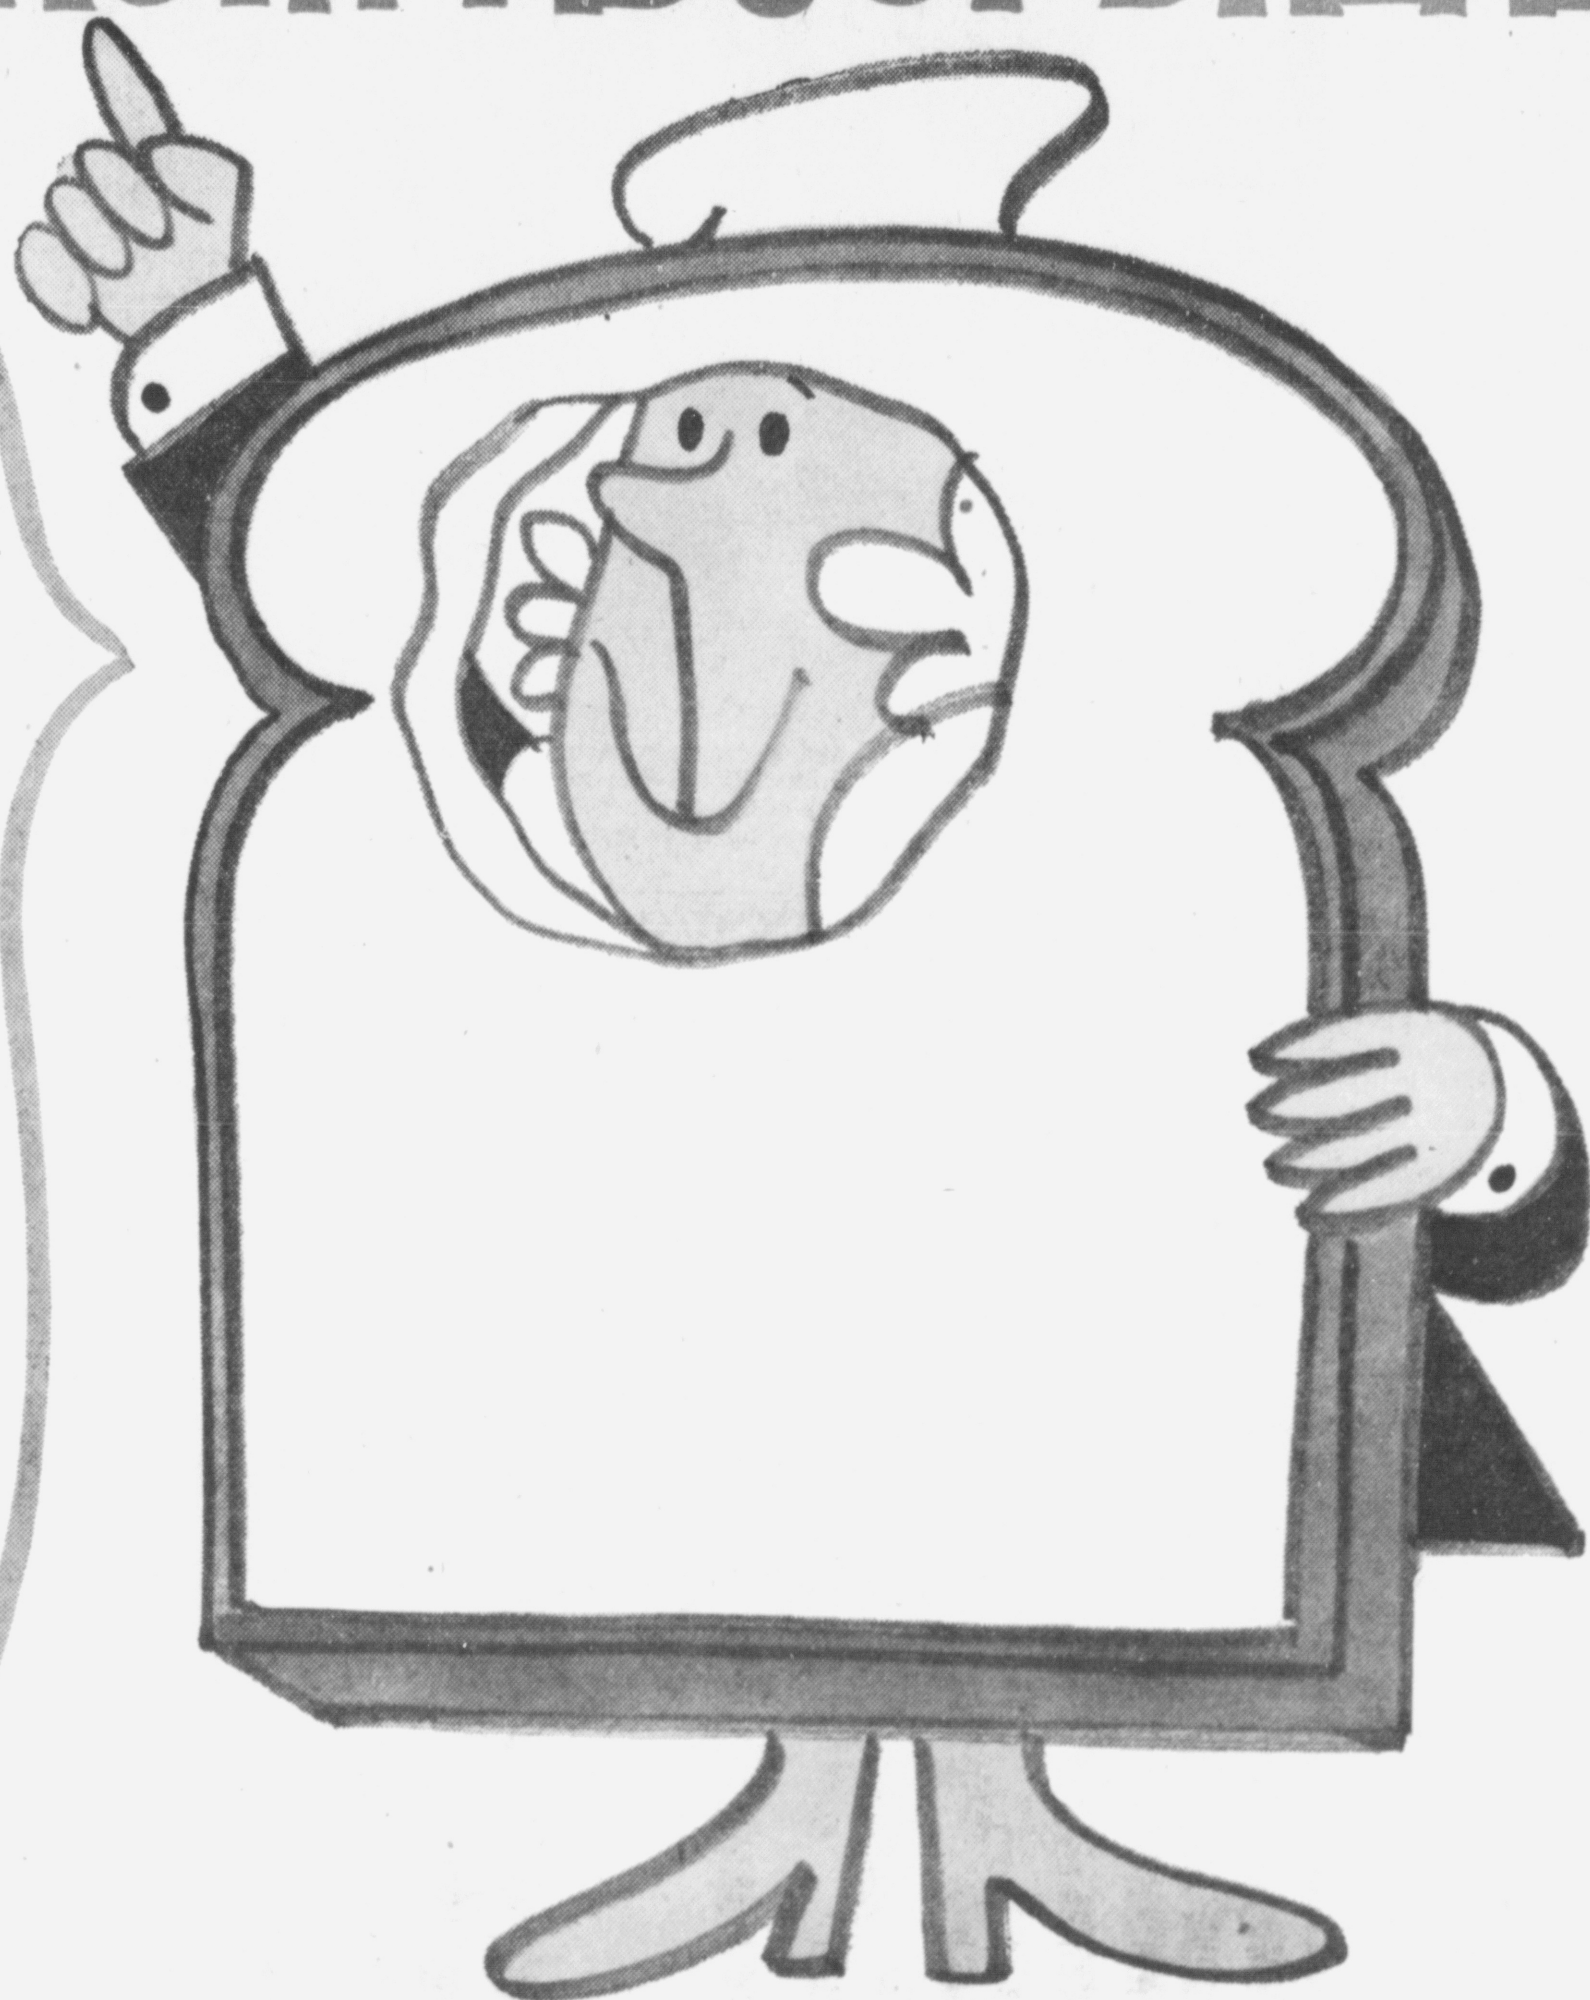

NEW YORK (AP) — The most popular American playwrights abroad display sectional appeal, Rosamond Gilder told the American Educational Theater Association.

Miss Gilder, who heads the U.S. branch of the International Theater Institute, said that on her world travels she has discovered that Tennessee Williams is most popular in Japan, Arthur Miller in Iron Curtain countries and Eugene O'Neill in India.

THE HOLE TRUTH ABOUT BREAD

Millbrook's
Miracle-Mix
banishes
air holes, freshens flavor*

Millbrook's Miracle-Mix bread has

LONGER BREAD-BOX LIFE

than ordinary bread!

MILLBROOK'S BATTER BLENDING METHOD whips air holes out, whips flavor in—makes Miracle-Mix Bread fresher right from the start. Ordinary bread has air holes 'cause it's baked from dough.

BREAD-BOX-TYPE TESTS prove Millbrook's new, Miracle-Mix retains moisture and softness longer—that's why it stays fresher. Taste tests show it's preferred almost two to one for flavor, too!

Keeps its fresh flavor longer because it's baked from batter that's whipped like cream—in small batches. Gives you full bread nourishment, too! To be sure you get Millbrook's genuine Miracle-Mix with longer bread-box life, look for the double M brand on every loaf.

One of the most important changes in bidding caused by possession of a large part score is the significance of the response of two of a lower valued suit. With no score this is a forcing bid and may be made with almost any sort of trump holding. When it is a bid of game it ceases to be a forcing bid and should always show a strong desire to play the hand in that bid suit.

With this start, let us look at a tragedy that took place recently at New York's Cavendish Club. It seems that South knew this convention but had forgotten the score and when his partner opened one spade, South decided to respond with two diamonds as a preliminary to a jump raise in spades to show strength.

North did not know about this mental lapse and passed. He was satisfied with a diamond contract.

So was West. He opened the king of trumps and eventually collected 200 points for a two-trick set plus another 100 points for honors.

North was doubly unfortunate. There was no real reason why South should not have responded with a jump raise in spades—score or no score. In that case, North would undoubtedly have moved toward the lay-down spade slam and wound up with a really big profit.

Big Shark Gives Battle to Device Designed to Repel

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—John Hicks has invented an electronic device designed to repel sharks.

He went to the Miami Seaquarium Wednesday to test it. The Navy sent observers, News and cameramen were on hand.

Sitting on a rubber raft in the shark channel, Hicks manned a control box. Wires fastened underneath the raft were supposed to impart an electrical shock to any over-interested shark.

A small docile shark came along and Hicks gave it an electrical tickle. Then he switched the charge to an 8-foot brute. The big shark butted the raft and almost upset it.

Hicks scampered quickly to safer grounds.

New System Steers Titan Missile on 5,000 Mile Course

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A Titan missile steered by a new inertial guidance system successfully flew a 5,000-mile course Wednesday night.

The guidance is being developed for the more powerful Titan II missile, which will begin test flights here early next year. It is contained entirely within the missile and requires no post-launch direction from the ground as does the radio-command guidance used on the earlier Titan I.

NEW YORK (AP)—Joseph Mitchell, city manager of Newburgh, whose welfare program has come under fire, says more government assistance in the welfare field means "more spending, more bureaucracy and less home rule."

Mitchell, speaking Wednesday before the Columbia University Club forum, said:

"The only solution is to plan for the gradual retreat of government from this area (welfare). Otherwise, there will be no end to the costs."

Says Ribicoff Means Well

Mitchell called Abraham A. Ribicoff, secretary of health, education and welfare, "well intentioned," but added: "he fails to understand that no improvements can be made under the present philosophy of welfare."

"This philosophy is 25 years old. It is based on government as a solution to all problems," Mitchell termed Ribicoff's criticism of Newburgh as "unfair and unfounded."

"Our accomplishments are positive," said Mitchell, citing a saving of $162,000 in public welfare costs in 1961.

Sees $92,000 Savings
Mitchell predicted a saving of $92,000 in welfare costs in 1962, and said there would be a tax cut as a result of the savings.

Referring to an injunction against his welfare program obtained by the state, Mitchell said: "They (the officials of Newburgh) have found other means to get the remedies they sought, bypassing the injunction."

Mitchell contended that "no truly needy person has been deprived of assistance" in Newburgh, "yet we have cut the relief rolls by one-third."

He said the welfare caseload has been decreased from 1,382 last February to 904 in October. He claimed this was "the greatest drop in cases of all the five city welfare districts in New York State."

In Miami, Fla., Wednesday, the City Managers Association of New York State formally endorsed the International City Managers Association directors' censure of Mitchell.

Infant Suffocates

BATH, N.Y. (AP)—Six-month-old Alex R. Murat, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Murat of Bath, suffocated in the back seat of an automobile when he pulled a plastic dry cleaning bag over his head while the mother shopped in a nearby supermarket.

SANTA ARRIVES AT BIG SCOT—About 8,000 parents and children went to Big Scot on Route 28 last Saturday to await the arrival of Santa Claus by helicopter. With all parking facilities filled to capacity since early in the day, hundreds of cars that could not get in tied up traffic on Route 28 for several miles. The event was part of a "Christmas in November" promotion sponsored by this store, which according to the store manager Murray Leeds, was to be the start of a new tradition in the Kingston area. "From here on," said Leeds, "Big Scot will try to activate the holiday spirit early by bringing Santa Claus, every year to shake hands with the children."

Grandson for Lefky

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz, the state's highest legal officer, stands to get a bundle when he arrives here Friday.

The bundle will be his two-day-old grandson, David Philip Feinbloom. The 7-pound, 11 ounce bouncer was born Tuesday at Strong Memorial Hospital.

The parents are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Feinbloom. She's the former Joan Lefkowitz.

Javits, Keating Staffs Receive $80,000 Salaries

WASHINGTON (AP) — New York State's Republican Senators spent more than $80,000 in salaries for their office staffs during July, August and September.

The secretary of the senate reported Wednesday that Sen. Jacob K. Javits of New York City and Sen. Kenneth B. Keating of Rochester each paid his employees over $40,000 during the period.

Javits has 33 employees and Keating 35.

Milton Eisenberg, Keating's administrative assistant, was the highest paid of the 73, drawing $4,381 between July 1 and Sept. 30.

Some of the office help was employed on a part-time basis.

The secretary of the senate, under a law passed by the 86th congress, must issue payroll reports quarterly.

Public Assistance
Changes Asked to Help Families

HARRISBURG (AP) — A Pennsylvania official called on the country's welfare administrators today to update their public assistance programs to get rid of "hit and miss" approaches to the problems of troubled families.

"Work relief is no substitute for regular or public works employment," declared Norman V. Lourie, deputy secretary of the Pennsylvania Department of Public Welfare.

Lourie made the plea in a speech prepared for a meeting of the American Public Welfare Association in Chicago.

The field of public welfare alone is not responsible for the problems that plague it, Lourie stated, noting that most present public programs were designed 25 years ago to meet emergencies.

Lourie said the most successful approach to public welfare is to move public assistance patients from relief rolls to jobs and independence.

Canadian Dollar Falls Below 96 Cents

MONTREAL (AP) — The Canadian dollar has fallen below 96 cents in terms of U.S. funds for the first time in 10 years.

It closed Wednesday at 95.23-32, the lowest since Nov. 27, 1951.

The U.S. dollar's premium against Canadian currency has been rising steadily since the end of October when it was down to 3 per cent. It had risen to 4 per cent last June following Finance Minister Donald Fleming's budget speech.

Census Every 5 Years Is Favored

NEW YORK (AP) — A federal census every five years instead of 10 is favored by municipal officials from the eastern area of the nation.

The views were presented Wednesday at a hearing before the subcommittee on government and statistics of the House Committee on Post Office and Civil Service.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner, in a statement, described the 10-year census as "an anachronism."

Miss Genevieve Blatt, Pennsylvania's secretary of internal affairs, said a 25 per cent sampling every five years would yield "sufficiently reliable" statistics for the state.

There was a general agreement that a five-year census would aid planning in such fields as public health, education, and urban renewal.

Urges Unity Among Farmers to Reach Goals

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (AP) — A deputy state agriculture secretary has called for unity among Pennsylvania farm organizations to achieve common goals.

Deputy D. Richard Wenner told the annual convention of the Pennsylvania Young Farmers Association Wednesday that farm organizations' policy should be directed toward "turning organizational vigor to common problems rather than fighting among themselves."

Stresses Steel Firms Are Private Enterprise

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The president of Republic Steel Corp. has called for a major communication program to establish a business climate favorable to growth of the steel industry.

"First, it's important that the general public and our governmental representatives come to understand that steel companies are not public utilities, but operate within very competitive domestic and foreign markets," Thomas F. Patton said Wednesday.

Shandaken

SHANDAKEN—Mrs. F. S. Osterhoudt entertained at dinner on Thanksgiving Day, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Cox and Miss Martha Cox of Pittsfield, Mass.; Miss Ruth Cox of Monroe; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Baran and three children, and Miss Sandra Corbett of Batavia, and Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Cleaveland of Shandaken.

Miss Marilyn Heick visited relatives in Onondaga last week. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bell and sons, David and Alan of Lake Katrine, and Dr. Charles and Dr. Priscilla Hummel of Kingston were Thanksgiving weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hummel.

Mrs. George Rosa is a patient in Margaretville Hospital.

A/3e Edward C. Ford of Keeler Air Force Base, Miss., is spending some time with his father, Charles Ford of this place.

Henry Heick and son, William, were guests of William Finke at Taylor Island, Md., during a hunting trip last week. They brought home eight large Canadian geese.

The Rev. Roger Brown of New Paltz attended the service at Shandaken Methodist Church Sunday morning and spoke briefly to his former congregation. He greeted the parishioners with the Rev. Jack Richardson, pastor following the service.

Mrs. Robert Townsend entertained at her home recently, the following guests, Mrs. Henry Harbig, Mrs. Carl Townsend, Mrs. F. S. Osterhoudt and Mrs. W. C. Hummel.

Mrs. Harry Miller of Phoenixia has served as organist at the Shandaken Methodist Church for the past two Sundays. Mrs. G. L. Marioner, church organist has been absent due to an injury to her hand.

The Rev. Jack Richardson, pastor of the church recently recovered from an injury. Mrs. Richardson and their infant daughter returned home from Elizabeth, Pa., on Saturday.

'Copter on Stage

NEW YORK (AP)—The largest prop ever used in a stage show at the Radio City Music Hall is a 53-foot-long Marine Corps helicopter. It is used in a program saluting naval aviation's 50th anniversary. The four-ton aircraft had to be lifted onto a special stage ramp with a construction crane 80 feet high.

Silver Nearing Short Supply Returns to Public Spotlight

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—Silver—a commodity or a backing for money? And what price silver?

Today the metal is under a spotlight perhaps more intense than at any time since the days of William Jennings Bryan's cry for 16-to-1 status for silver.

As a commodity, silver has been teetering on the edge of short supply. Miners say its official prices have been too low to encourage sufficient output. Users wanted the price held down.

Supports Paper Notes

As a backing for paper money it supports some $2 billion of paper currency, all $1 bills and some $2, $5 and $10 bills, known as silver certificates, and it circulates as coins.

President Kennedy has ordered the Treasury to stop selling it at a pegged rate of 91.5 cents an ounce. He also wants the silver certificates replaced gradually by Federal Reserve notes—now the most widely used form of folding money.

That makes miners happy, and many others in states where mining activity may perk up. It makes users unhappy, although many agree it seemed inevitable. Some silver dealers here say the price might jump above $1 an ounce, now that the Treasury isn't selling it at what they call bargain rates.

Production Drops

Commercial use of silver has been growing—while production of silver has been dropping.

It goes into jewelry and silverware. But use has been soaring for photographic film and electronics equipment, for use in missiles, in organic chemistry, even food preservation, and for electrical circuits in such appliances as TV sets and radios.

Higher metal prices could in time affect the retail prices of such items.

Supplies have grown tighter because much silver output was closed down miners saying they couldn't operate profitably at the legal price—90.5 cents an ounce—the Treasury paid for their metal. The gap between demand and supply in this country has been bridged by the U.S. Treasury selling part of its supply. At the start of the year the Treasury had 123.5

million ounces not tied up as backing for currency. The steady commercial demand has whittled that down to 22 million ounces.

See Rise in Price

Now commercial users must look to the world market—where prices seem bound to rise, even if they fluctuate widely for a time. American silver producers—and those in other lands—contend that the expected higher price for the metal will start up production in mines now idle.

With more production, they argue, the metal will come back to adequate supply and the price will be stable.

Big users aren't so happy. Eastman Kodak uses nearly 28.5 million ounces a year to make silver nitrate for its films. It has tried to build up a stockpile, wishes it could have got more.

Some users are philosophical about it. At the rate the Treasury stockpile was dwindling, there wouldn't have been much left in it anyway, even if the President hadn't acted.

Ministers Group Hears Address On Counseling

The Hudson Valley Ministerial Association, which met on Monday at the Christian Missionary and Alliance Church in Kingston, had as its speaker Ray Curry, national director of counseling and follow up for Youth For Christ.

Speaking to the ministers, he told of various steps which can be taken in the teaching and follow up work of the different age groups from the primaries to the teens, including adults, that they might become faithful and committed Christians.

Preceding the address there was a brief business session. At the close there was a period of prayer by members.

The next meeting will be the fourth Monday in January at the Kingston YMCA.

Hand of the Almighty

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. Fred Jagge, a member of the supreme court of Ghana, told a Presbyterian meeting here: "We have arrived at the place where the Almighty is shaking up all the nations, asking, 'Man, where is your brother?'"

Fewer Church Fires

BOSTON (AP)—Church organizations cut down their losses from fires in 1960 while the country as a whole was setting a new record for destruction by fire.

The National Fire Protection

Association, a non-profit technical and educational clearing house on fire safety information, reports that approximately 300 fewer churches were destroyed or damaged by fire in 1960 than in 1959. And total losses in the 3,100 fires in 1960 were $14,700,000 compared with total church fire losses of $17,530,000 the year before. The 1960 figure was the lowest in five years. Seven major fires accounted for 20 per cent of the 1960 losses, the largest being the $760,000 destruction of the Second Congregational Church, Waterbury, Conn., Sept. 7, 1960.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—If you stayed with NBC Wednesday evening, you visited a Manhattan "twist" joint, joined a Billy Graham crusade, heard Paul Anka sing A. E. Housman poetry and Doug Fairbanks Jr. read the preamble of the U. S. Constitution.

That's the kind of a night it was on NBC, with three hour-long specials one after the other. It was a long evening for constant viewer.

Taking up the program in reverse chronology, "The World of Billy Graham" showed a lot of film of the evangelist and his efficient team in action, but never fulfilled the promise of digging below the surface.

The "intimate glimpses" had a self-conscious staged air about them—and never once did we get a glimpse of the man behind the narrow voice and the flashing eye.

Perry Como's Roncom Production Co. obviously has the idea of selling an updated, TV version of "We the People" as a separate program and used Perry's variety hour to showcase a sample. It was an odd hedge podge of short features—including the aforementioned twist and Anka bits, a live parachute drop and—you won't believe it—a visit to the Museum of Modern Art in New York to hear a clarinet player improvise his reactions to the paintings.

Finally, there was a history of Hollywood from its beginnings to the arrival of sound—"The Golden Years." The old film clips would have been more amusing if there had not been a lot of the same thing on TV recently, notably ABC's very good "Silents Please."

Recommended tonight: "Victoria Regina," NBC, 9:30-11 (Eastern Standard Time)—adaptation of the Housman play with Julie Harris in the title role; "Yves Montand on Broadway," ABC, 10-11—French and American tunes in a variety show with Polly Bergen, and John Raitt; "CBS Reports," 10-11—documentary based on actual film of a raid on a Boston bookmaking establishment.

Acute diseases of the upper respiratory tract are the most common cause of illness in the United States.

Committee Announces Plans For Christmas Eve Program

Gala plans are taking shape for the annual Christmas Eve program on the Woodstock Village Green. Santa Claus has been contacted and promised that he would again surprise everyone and arrive in some spectacular manner on the Green on Christmas Eve. Naturally, Santa is bringing stockings for all the children, filled with surprises, candy and fruit.

The Christmas Eve committee this year is headed by Robert Carr as chairman and also includes Frank Benson, treasurer; Milton Combs, in charge of grounds along with George Eichler and George Laws. In charge of the program are Gordon Anderson, Gottlob Wagner and Santa's right hand man, Joe Holdridge.

The Cheer Baskets are handled by William West Jr. and Mrs. Ruth Kinns will see that Santa's stockings are filled by his workers. Kiki Godwin is in charge of publicity and the children's picture contest.

Mrs. Edward Goddard was added to the committee recently to aid in the programming and the children's vocal group.

This year will bring an exciting addition to the Christmas Eve festivities and some lucky boy and girl will be chosen for very honored positions. The regal surprise will be announced next week.

Play Major Role

The true meaning of Christmas will not be overlooked but the children will again play a major part in the annual celebration. Adults will have the opportunity to view through a child's mind their wondrous world of Christmas.

Paintings and drawings by children from kindergarten through the fourth grade depicting the theme "What I See When I Think of Christmas" will be displayed in the local shop windows. A gift of ten dollars will be given to a child from each grade whose impressions are most outstanding and a five dollar prize to the child receiving second consideration in their grade.

All Woodstock township children in these grades may bring in their paintings anytime from now to Dec. 18 to either the Woodstock Sport Shop or Anderson's hardware store. Three local artists will review the children's work and those receiving gifts will be announced on the Village Green Christmas Eve.

Christmas excitement can add enthusiasm to children's parties given during the contest time. In addition to Pin the Tail on the Donkey, crayons and paper can be distributed and while the mother enjoys relative quiet, the children are engaged in creative thoughts of Christmas.

Guest Preacher At Reformed Church Sunday

The Rev. Cornelius Lepeltak, Director of Kirkside, home for retired Reformed Church workers at Roxbury, N. Y., will be the guest speaker at the 11 a. m. Sunday service at the Woodstock Reformed Church.

Sunday school for all ages will be held at 9:30 a. m. Mrs. Artine Artinian will teach the adult class which meets in the sanctuary. The music for the 11 a. m. service will be under the direction of Mrs. Richard Green, Senior choir director. Mrs. Carl Harrington will be the organist. Nursery care is provided for children of worshippers.

The schedule of events for Tuesday, Dec. 5 follows: 8 p. m., meeting of the consistory in the church basement; 7 p. m., Boy Scout Troop 34, Woodstock school; 8 p. m., Guild for Christian Service, Annex.

Other scheduled events in the church calendar: Wednesday, Dec. 6, Church Bowling League, 6:45 p. m.; Thursday, Dec. 7, Senior choir rehearsal, 8 p. m.; Friday, Dec. 8, Junior Christian Endeavor, 7 p. m.

Bennett School Is Cited for Fitness Tests

The Reginald R. Bennett Elementary School at Boiceville has received word that its students have been awarded a certificate of achievement by the Amateur Athletic Union of the United States for their performance on physical fitness tests.

Alan J. Byrne, physical education instructor at the school, incorporated the required physical fitness activities in his physical education program at the school last year and each student was required to pass the A.A.U. junior physical fitness test. These included skills in: sprints, walk and run, sit-ups, pull-ups, standing broad jump and out of the following push-ups, baseball throw or running high jump. The requirements vary for each activity for boys and girls and according to age.

These tests were developed by a commission of the Committee on Physical Fitness of the Federal Security Agency in Washington, D. C. and are designed for motivation of boys and girls to increase athletic sports participation for the development of physical fitness. The tests are felt to be well within the "safety zone" and capacity of the average healthy boy and girl.

The certificate reads as follows:

"The Board of Governors of the Amateur Athletic Union of the United States presents this award in recognition of the outstanding contribution of the Bennett Elementary School to the physical improvement of the people of our nation through preparing participants for and conducting the Amateur Athletic Union Physical Fitness Tests."

The certificate was signed by N. J. Baruck, president; and James F. Sims, secretary-treasurer.

Holy Communion Will Be Celebrated At Christ Lutheran

This Sunday, the Sacrament of Holy Communion will be celebrated at Christ Lutheran, initiating the four-week season of Advent which stresses preparation for the observance of Christ's birth.

Once again, the lighting of the Advent wreath will take place symbolizing week by week the increasing nearness of the celebration of the Christmas event, the coming of the Christ child. Acolytes Robert Langlong, Kenneth Peterson, David Holmzer and Joseph Dunn, respectively, will light the Advent Wreath in the coming four weeks, following the reading of the traditional Old Testament prophecy.

The Church School which meets each Sunday at 9:54 a. m. is now making plans for a Christmas pageant which will be presented on Christmas Eve at 7:30 p. m. Once again the creche, a representation of the Nativity scene, will be displayed in the area adjoining the church.

Mrs. Clair's Talk Enjoyed by LWV

Pyramids, the Sphinx, the mysterious Nile—all these were the fascinating subjects of a talk given by Mrs. Jack Clair of Kingston to the Woodstock League of Women Voters last night in the Rotron conference room. The talk, which was accompanied by slides, was followed by a discussion of Mrs. Clair's impressions of present-day Egypt.

Mrs. Clair is well-known in the area for her interesting slides and comments on the various countries she has visited. This trip to Egypt was taken during the summer of 1960 when Mrs. Clair and her party traveled over 2,000 miles down the Nile into the Sudan. Mrs. Clair's interest in ancient history and her desire to see all the ancient cities and tombs which will be flooded by the Aswan Dam prompted the six-week trip.

Mrs. Clair is a member of the faculty at the West Hurley school and holds both BA and MA degrees from Syracuse University. She is a member of the Kingston Library Board of Trustees and the Kingston Chapter of the American Association of University Women.

Youth Expert Speaks to LWV

Members of the Woodstock League of Women Voters were honored this morning by a visit from Mrs. Fannie H. Lawson, field representative of the New York State Division of Youth.

Mrs. Lawson spoke at a meeting of the League's committee studying the laws, agencies and facilities for the youth of Woodstock. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. James Mulligan, chairman of this committee.

The purpose of Mrs. Lawson's visit was to inform the League members on the operations of the State Division of Youth.

Town Notes

The regular meeting of the Woodstock American Legion Auxiliary 1026 will be held Tuesday evening, Dec. 5, at 8 p. m. at the American Legion Hall.

After the business meeting, a Christmas party will be held and members are asked not to forget their gift to be exchanged.

Agapae Meet

The regular meeting of Agapae Rebekah Lodge 623 will be held Wednesday, Dec. 6, at 8 p. m. at the Beersville Lodge Hall. After the meeting there will be a Christmas sale of fancy articles, jewelry, food and other articles.

Democrats Vote Two Resolutions

The executive committee of the Woodstock Democratic Club at a recent meeting adopted two resolutions, one in support of retention of the Kingston office of the Veterans Administration.

The other resolution will be directed to the Federal Communications Commission in Washington protesting a recent petition that WTIC-TV Channel 3 at Hartford be removed and a shorter range UHF channel be substituted.

The resolution urging the Veterans Administration to retain its office in Kingston pointed out that the local VA office averages about 8,000 contacts a year, handling claims for compensation and pensions for veterans widows and dependent children and other services. Elimination of the office would deprive area veterans of valuable, close to home services.

the resolution said. It also commended F. William Sheehan for his superior administration of the office.

The resolution on Channel 3 points out that nearly 500,000 people in Connecticut, western Massachusetts and eastern New York would be without adequate TV reception if the channel were removed from Hartford. The Woodstock area would be seriously affected as Channel 3 now provides the best clear channel reception for hundreds of Woodstock homes.

Plans were also announced for a New Year's Eve party for the Democratic Club. Mrs. Eileen Haberstroh and Charles A. Jennings were named co-chairmen for the event.

P-TA Meeting To Hear Talk On OCS Building

The next meeting of the Woodstock P-TA will be held Thursday, Dec. 14, at 8 p. m. in the school auditorium. The program will be devoted to "The Building Problems of the Ontario School District" which will be discussed by Dr. George Sullivan, district principal.

At the last P-TA meeting on November 2, a resolution was approved by the membership urging the Board of Education to take prompt action to resolve the long term classroom shortage in the district.

Since coming to the Ontario School District last July, Dr. Sullivan has been making an extensive study of the growing classroom shortage in the School District. At this meeting he will present the facts uncovered by his investigation.

This meeting is a very important one for all those living in Woodstock, whether they have children in school or not. The public is urged to attend this meeting to learn the facts concerning the school situation in the district.

Liquor Stores To Warn Drivers With Sales

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — New York State motorists who make purchases in liquor stores will receive, along with their bottled goods, a reminder that a conviction for drunken driving would mean mandatory revocation of the offender's driver's license.

The State Motor Vehicles Department said today posters carrying that reminder are being distributed for display in liquor stores, and in hotels that sell liquor in bottles to guests.

FOOD FOR AMERICANS

Christmas Snowman Takes Cake As Surprise Dessert

NUTTY—but nice—Christmas snowman cake does double duty as holiday centerpiece or original gift to friends.

GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Have you ever met the Christmas snowman? He is a bit mixed up, of course, and a trifle nutty. Glistening white, very friendly, he often wears a crown of "purest" gold paper.

As a dessert centerpiece for the festive table he is a delight—literally sweet enough to eat. Carefully packed as a gift to neighbors and friends, what could be a more original and amusing messenger of your good will greetings?

Snowman Cake
(Serves 16)
6 eggs
2 packages of coconut surprise cake mix
1 1/4 cups light corn syrup
Pinch of salt
1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla
Nuts and Cherries

Separate four of the eggs and set aside the four egg whites. Prepare cake mixes according to package directions, using 2 egg yolks and 1 whole egg for each mix in place of 2 whole eggs. Pour 1 1/4 cups batter into greased and floured 1-pound shortening can. Divide remaining batter into 2 greased and floured 2-quart oven-proof mixing bowls. Bake in a preheated 350 degrees F. oven—20 minutes for cake in can, 45 to 50 minutes for cakes in bowls, or until cakes test done. Slice tops from each cake to level them and cut each cake in half crosswise. Put corn syrup into a saucepan and bring to a boil. Beat reserved egg whites and salt until they stand in soft peaks. Gradually beat in the hot syrup and continue beating until frosting holds its shape. Beat in vanilla.

Spread frosting between layers of the two bowl cakes and sandwich level sides together to form the body of snowman. on serving dish and top with can cake to form head. Frost snowman completely with remaining frosting. Decorate with nuts and cherries to form buttons and face of snowman. Tie ribbon around neck to form scarf and decorate serving dish with flaked coconut to resemble snow.

Several readers have asked for a new recipe for Holiday Egg nog. We think your friends will enjoy this cognac version:

$180 Million More
In Stocks to Be Sold by Phone Co.

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The New York Telephone Co. will issue $180 million in additional stocks and bonds.

The income will be used to repay bank loans and to reimburse the company treasury for part of the $257 million spent under an expansion program.

The Public Service Commission authorized the company today to issue 6 million shares of common stock with a par value of $20 a share and $60 million in bonds. The American Telephone & Telegraph Co., parent firm of New York Telephone, will purchase the full stock issue.

The company set Jan. 9 as the tentative date for opening of bids on the bonds.

In authorizing the stock sale, the PSC also permitted the company to increase its total number of outstanding shares to 76,065,000 from the previous limit of 70,065,000.

The new shares will raise to $1,521,300,000 the total value of outstanding shares.

Cornell Dean Gets Agriculture Award

CHICAGO (AP)—William I. Myers, dean emeritus of Cornell University college of agriculture, has been given a distinguished service award by the American Agricultural Editors Association.

The award, was presented Wednesday at the editors' annual meeting. The group praised Myers for his contributions to agriculture.

Myers headed Cornell's department of Agricultural Economics for 15 years and served as dean from 1943 to 1959.

From 1933 to 1938, Myers was governor of the Farm Credit Administration, which aided farmers burdened by debt during the depression.

sugar
1 cup cognac
1 pint heavy cream, whipped
Nutmeg
Candied cherries

Separate egg white from yolks. Add one scant tablespoon sugar for each yolk. Beat yolks and sugar together until the mixture is a light lemon color. The more you beat, the better. Add cognac.

In another bowl beat egg whites until stiff and standing in peaks. Fold the egg whites into the egg yolk mixture. Fold in whipped cream. Stir, but do not blend too much. Pour egg nog into punch bowl; sprinkle with nutmeg; decorate with candied cherries. Serve in punch cups with spoons.

Railroad and 4 Unions to Decide On Arbitration

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Rutland Railway and four unions will decide by tomorrow whether to restore service on the line and submit the causes of a two-month strike to arbitration.

Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg recommended immediate resumption of service on the freight line and arbitration as part of a five-point plan for settling the dispute.

Goldberg made the recommendations Wednesday after two days of talks between the road and the four operating brotherhoods. He asked for a reply by 5 p.m. Friday.

Goldberg would name the arbitrator for the dispute.

Goldberg urged that the Rutland resume operations at once and restore service that was in operation Sept. 21. The line serves New York State points.

His other recommendations included immediate reinstatement of all employees "in accordance with seniority and without reprisals, discrimination or recrimination."

He said that "the wage, vacation and cost of living issues and all pending grievances and time claims in dispute...be submitted for final and binding arbitration."

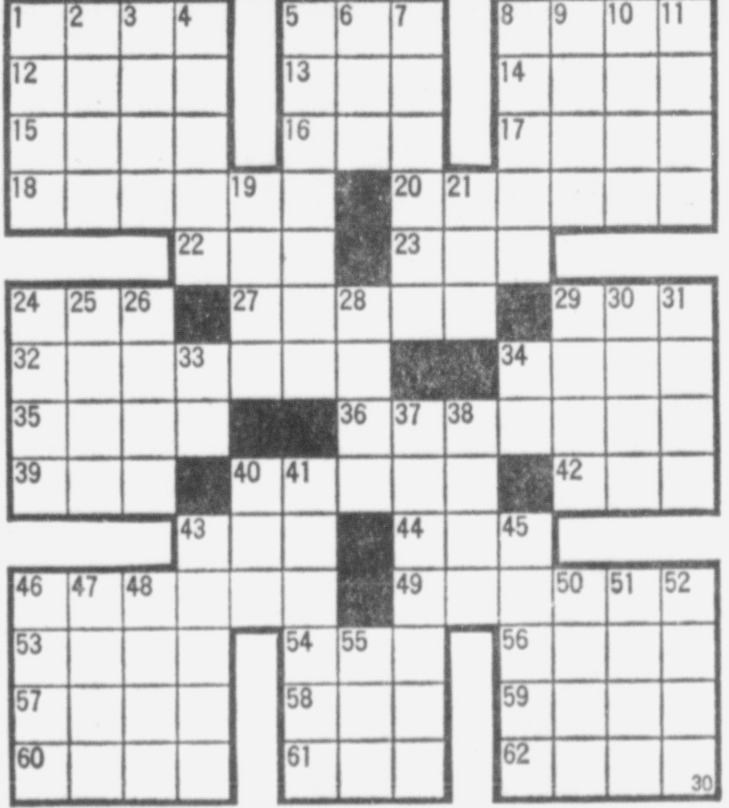

The issues in the strike are wages and work rules. William I. Ginsberg, president of the line, says the 400 strikers are attempting to usurp management prerogatives.

The unions involved are the Brotherhoods of Locomotive Engineers, Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, Conductors and Brakemen, and Railroad Trainmen.

State Motorists Given Warning on Loss of License

Warnings to New York State drivers that just one conviction as drinking drivers will cost them their licenses are being distributed by the State Department of Motor Vehicles, Commissioner William S. Huitts said today.

The warnings, in the form of posters, are aimed particularly at holiday celebrants, but also apply throughout the year, Huitts said.

Through the cooperation of the State Alcoholic Beverage Control Division and the Thruway Authority, the posters will be displayed in all stores and hotels which sell bottled goods for off-the-premises consumption and at various facilities on the Thruway.

New York State penalizes drivers convicted of driving while under the influence of alcohol, even if they are not legally intoxicated, by a mandatory 60-day license suspension.

A conviction for driving while intoxicated must, by law, result in license revocation.

Bus Strike TonightGotham Is Moving To Lessen Impact

NEW YORK (AP) —The city government rushed emergency measures today to help lessen the impact of a bus strike threatened for midnight tonight.

At the same time, city officials continued efforts to settle the contract dispute between the Transport Workers Union and the seven private bus companies serving the city.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner called representatives of both sides to another meeting at City Hall.

He said the talks would continue, if necessary, until midnight when the two-year contract covering 8,500 bus drivers and mechanics expires.

Buses of the seven companies carry two million riders daily on routes in Manhattan, The Bronx and Queens. The strike threat does not involve the city-owned subways and bus lines operated by the Transit Authority.

The union has demanded a 32-hour, four-day week to replace the present 40-hour, five-day week; a 15 per cent across-the-board wage increase, and other benefits. Present pay ranges from $2.46 to $2.57 an hour.

The city government has promised financial assistance to the bus companies if they reach a "fair and reasonable" settlement with the union. The nature of the assistance has not been revealed.

Wineries to Merge

NEW YORK (AP) — Taylor Wine Co. plans to acquire the winery and Scotch whiskey-import division of Great Western Producers Inc.

The transaction announced Wednesday by both companies, is subject to approval by shareholders of both firms, probably at meetings next month. Transfer of 300,000 shares of Taylor stock is involved.

The companies operate wineries in Hammondsport.

Taylor, a leading producer of sparkling and still wines, dates to 1880. Great Western, U.S. distributor of Whyte & Mackay Scotch whiskey, was founded in 1860.

President May Visit South of the Border

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy may visit Venezuela and Colombia next month to demonstrate his interest in Alliance for Progress, a program of aid and self-help for Latin America.

If Kennedy makes the trip—a final decision is expected within a week—it would be his first south of the border since taking office. He has visited Europe and Canada as President.

Discussions with the two Latin American governments are under way, the White House press secretary, Pierre Salinger, said Wednesday. But, he added, "no final decisions or plans have been made."

White House sources indicated that if Kennedy goes to South America, Mrs. Kennedy will accompany him.

Both the Venezuelan and Colombian governments are friendly to the United States. If Kennedy visits the two countries he would dedicate educational and housing projects launched with Alliance for Progress aid funds.

The program is designed to aid economic development in Latin American countries that undertake reforms to better the lives of their people.

The United States has pledged $1 billion-plus for this first year of the program. The United States already has committed more than $800 million of this aid. Kennedy told a meeting of the Inter-American Economic and Social Council Wednesday.

Salinger would not speculate on when Kennedy might start on the trip. Other Washington sources talked about mid-December, with Dec. 14 as a possible starting date.

Salinger said Venezuela and Colombia are the only two nations involved in present travel discussions.

Deaths

PARIS (AP) —Anna Gould, duchess of Talleyrand, 88, an American heiress whose European marriages and a divorce were headline news before World War I, died Wednesday.

PALO ALTO, Calif. (AP)—Sidney Siegel, 45, a professor on leave from Pennsylvania State University, died Wednesday, apparently of a heart attack.

Blind Man Seeks Peace Corps Job To Teach Others

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — George S. McDermott, totally blind since 1950, wants to help set up teacher-training programs for the blind in India.

McDermott, 28, has applied for appointment to the Peace Corps. He now is a graduate student at the Hartford Seminary Foundation.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde McDermott, live in Corning, N.Y., where he was born. McDermott attended Colgate and Boston Universities and Andover-Newton Theological School.

He has no plans at present for the ministry. Right now, he hopes he can be of service to the Peace Corps.

"I'm willing to accept whatever they decide," he said Wednesday. "Either, I'm good enough or I'm not."

Burns Are Fatal

TROY, N.Y. (AP)—H. Stewart Webb, 69, died Wednesday night in Samaritan Hospital of burns suffered Saturday when a living room chair caught fire in his home. Police said he had fallen asleep while smoking.

OFFERING CHAMPAGNE TO OTHERS AT TABLE

Q: My husband and I and another couple went on a cruise recently. We were seated at table with two other couples. They were very pleasant table companions and we all chatted throughout the meals and enjoyed each other's company. One night the husband of the other couple we were with ordered a bottle of champagne with dinner. He asked the waiter to bring four glasses. I was very embarrassed sitting at the table drinking champagne while the others looked on and I think it was very impolite of him not to offer some champagne to the others at table. In discussing this with my husband, he disagreed with me and said as they were not in our party, there was no need to do so. I would very much like your opinion on this matter.

A: Your husband is right. There was no reason to offer champagne to your table companions. If any of them wished champagne or anything else to drink not included in the meals, they should have ordered and signed for it themselves.

Dresses of Wedding Attendants

Q: My daughter is going to be married soon and she has chosen a white satin wedding dress with a chapel length train. She is having four bridesmaids and a maid of honor. Will you please tell me if it would be proper for the bridesmaids and maid of honor to wear ballerina length dresses or should they be ankle length since the bride is wearing a long dress?

A: The attendants' dresses should be the same length as the bride's.

Thirteenth Wedding Anniversary

Q: I have been invited to the thirteenth wedding anniversary party of a friend of mine. Will you please tell me what type of gift is appropriate for this anniversary?

A: The thirteenth wedding anniversary year is lace.

Wesleyan Guild Sets Holiday Activities

The Wesleyan Service Guild of St. James Methodist Church held its regular supper meeting Tuesday.

In the absence of the president, Miss Evelyn Thomas conducted the business portion of the meeting. Plans were made for the Christmas project of the Guild—baskets to be made for shut-ins. Miss Bertha Waterman was named chairman, with Miss Lucy Berryann, co-chairman.

The next meeting of the Guild will be held Tuesday, Dec. 19, at which time there will be a Christmas program and exchange of gifts. Miss Matilda Martin will hostess the program.

Miss Thomas gave a review of part one of Land of Eldorado. She will review part two of the book at the February meeting of the Guild. The book is one offered for study by the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church, of which the Wesleyan Service Guild is an affiliate.

College Teachers Active in Various Programs, Exhibits

Larry Agiro, professor of art at the State University College, New Paltz, conducted a workshop in Mosaic design for a group of 25 art teachers last week at Bethlehem, Pa. The workshop was organized to develop knowledge and skills about mosaic media and processes. It was a part of the Bethlehem school district's creative teaching program.

A total of 13 paintings by Ilya Bolotowsky, professor of art at the State University College, New Paltz, have been purchased during the past few weeks.

A painting entitled "Horizontal and Vertical" was sold by the Grace Borgenicht Gallery to the Chase Manhattan Bank and another painting, "Predominant Blue," was sold by the Esther Stuttmann Gallery to the Walter Chrysler Collection. Ten other paintings by Mr. Bolotowsky were sold during one of his one-man shows recently at the Grace Borgenicht Gallery.

Another six paintings of Mr. Bolotowsky are currently on display in various shows throughout the country, and he has been invited to exhibit seven additional paintings in numerous exhibits to be held during the next few months.

Dr. Louis Salkever, professor of economics at the State University College, New Paltz, recently participated in the preparation of a series of four films and video-tapes designed to teach teachers about investing in stocks and bonds.

Prepared for the New York Stock Exchange using television facilities under a Ford Foundation grant to foster education television, the tapes were made at the Washington County Board of Education TV Center in Hagerstown, Maryland. Dr. Salkever appeared in each of the four half-hour episodes, and had a leading role in one of the films. This film was devoted to an interchange between Dr. Salkever and Mr. James Meigs, one of the Stock Exchange's economists. They discussed the economic role of the Stock Exchanges. The films will be used throughout the nation in closed circuit programs of information for teachers to give them a basic understanding of investing so that they can better teach, and to stimulate suggestions and questions of how the subject of investing should be used in the high school curriculum. The series is entitled "World of Investing."

Lillard-McGrath Wedding Is Announced; Ceremony Takes Place in Eddyville

The wedding of Miss Sonja Lillard, daughter of Lars Lillard of Brooklyn, N. Y., and John Joseph McGrath Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. McGrath Sr. of Eddyville, took place Saturday, Nov. 25 at 12 a. m. at Sacred Heart Church in Eddyville. The Rev. Joseph McIntyre officiated at the double ring ceremony. The church was decorated with white chrysanthemums and pews were marked with white satin ribbon.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a princess gown of satin brocade fashioned with a fitted bodice, long tapered sleeves, and scalloped neckline. The bouffant skirt swept back into a bustle terminating in a chapel length train. A headpiece of orange blossoms, pearls, and crystals imported from Italy secured the pure silk illusion butterfly veil. She carried a lace covered prayer book with white mums and a cascade of green ivy and pinnocchio mums.

Maid of honor was Miss Beth Seagren of Brooklyn. She wore a ballerina gown of silk taffeta in light lavender with a deeper shade of lavender cummerbund, a scoop neckline and short sleeves. She wore a capulet of velvet leaves to which was attached a short flirtation veil. She carried a bouquet of yellow mums with green ivy and satin streamer.

Author of 'Schools' Will Be Speaker At Paltz College

Martin Mayer, author of the best seller book "The Schools," will be the speaker at the annual fall meeting of the Mid-Hudson School Study Council which will be held in the new dining hall of the State University College, New Paltz, December 4, at 7:30 p. m.

More than 200 school administrators, teachers and school board members representing some 45 member school systems in the Mid-Hudson area are expected to attend the meeting.

Mr. Mayer's book, "The Schools," is said to be one of the most comprehensive books about American schools ever written. It is based on Mayer's visits to about a thousand classrooms in 150 public and private schools, mostly in the United States. To supplement and help interpret the facts, the author read endlessly and interviewed some 1500 people involved in education, including teachers, professors of education, administrators, textbook publishers, test makers, and foundation officials.

Mayer is also the author of the following books: "Madison Avenue, U.S.A.," "Wall Street: Men and Money," and "The Experts."

Best man was John Tarate of Stone Ridge. Ushers were Lloyd Lillard, brother of the bride from Brooklyn; Richard Mathews of Rosendale and David O'Connor of Hurley. Frank Twogig of Kingston was junior usher, cousin of the bridegroom.

Mother of the bridegroom wore a dress of green chiffon, matching accessories and a corsage of yellow pompons.

A reception for approximately 110 guests was given at the Pleasure Yacht in Eddyville.

For her wedding trip, the bride wore a wool suit in pink with black accessories and a corsage of white pompons. The couple are vacationing at the Surf Club in Elbow Beach, Bermuda.

The bride was graduated from Fort Hamilton High School in Brooklyn and was employed by Izel Advertising in Brooklyn.

The bridegroom was graduated from Kingston High School and attended State University in Long Island. He is employed by IBM.

Mr. and Mrs. McGrath will reside in Kingston.

B'nai B'rith Youth Convention Is Set For December 22-25

Kingston will be host city to more than 50 Jewish young people of the Upper New York State Region of the B'nai B'rith Youth Organization, Dec. 22-25, it was disclosed today.

The schedule for the first two days of the convention was announced by Norman Blinder, president of the AZA boys and Sue Tabakman, president of the B'nai B'rith girls.

Delegates will arrive on Friday, Dec. 22 and be greeted by Kingston AZA and BBG members at Congregation Ahavath Israel. They then will be taken to the various homes where they will stay during the convention.

Albany AZA will conduct Sabbath Eve services at Congregation Ahavath Israel and after the services, regional leaders and the local presidents will officially welcome the delegates. An oratorical contest will be held on the topic, "The Jew and His Gentile Neighbor." Israeli singing and dancing is also planned. Refreshments will be served.

Sabbath services will be conducted Saturday, Dec. 23 at 10:30 a. m. by the Schenectady AZA at Temple Emanuel. Free time will be enjoyed after the service. The afternoon will be filled with seminars at the Temple.

No topics have been announced as yet for the seminars, but they will be on a theme vital to the Jewish youth of today. Saturday evening, Marsha Goldman, noted Jewish youth leader will show slides of her recent trip to Israel at Congregation Agudas Achim. Following this program there will be an informal dance for all delegates. It will be held in the social hall at the synagogue. There also will be house parties at the homes of Kingston B'nai B'rith.

The remainder of the four-day convention will be announced in the near future.

North Flatbush Parents

The monthly meeting of the North Flatbush Parents Club will be held Tuesday, Dec. 5 at 8 p. m., in the school. Plans will be made for the children's Christmas party.

All members are urged to attend. Refreshments will be served after the meeting.

Plattekill Lions Club to Sponsor Christmas Program

Officers and members of the Plattekill Lions Club will operate as ambassadors-of-good-will during the annual Christmas all-community program for residents in Clintondale, Ardonia, Modena, and Plattekill, Joseph Hasbrouck, Modena, president, said today.

Their community program includes the distribution of toys by Santa Claus for the children's Christmas party planned for Sunday, Dec. 17 at 3 p. m., at Oddo House, Clintondale.

The social program will feature a musical community singing event, the showing of cartoons and refreshments.

The second Christmas activity will be in charge of Andrew Montrola, Tuckers Corners, who will distribute gifts in the Old People's Home, Plattekill Township.

Another community service project will be to provide recreational areas in the Township of Plattekill. There will be a discussion of an outdoor ice skating program during the winter months, and an outdoor summer athletic program at a meeting planned for Wednesday, Dec. 6 at 7:30 p. m., at the Oddo House. The committee in charge includes Mr. Hasbrouck and Frank Pinerio, Plattekill.

In addition, there will be a Valentine dance, Saturday, Feb. 10 at 9 p. m., at the Oddo House. Hors d'oeuvres will be served all evening. The ticket committee includes Fred Fowler, Clintondale, and Russell Croce, Modena. Ony P. Orlovski is publicity director.

The new members who recently enrolled include Supervisor

Joseph Mataronna, Charles Dolcemascola and Carmine Figlio, all of Clintondale.

The delegates who will attend the annual New York State Lions convention, Fallsburg, May 20-23, will be "Captain" Merton E. Jenkins, Plattekill and Fred Fowler, Modena. Alternates include Mr. Croce and Mr. Orlovski.

Ulster County Food Service
The Ulster County Food Service meeting was held November 21 at the Milton Elementary School with representation from Milton, New Paltz, Gardiner, Marlboro, Rondout Valley Central, Kerhonkson and Marbletown.

A program on "Better Nutrition for Teenagers" was given by the representative of the Mid-Hudson Dairy Association. The next meeting is scheduled for March 20 at New Paltz campus. Topic will be Civil Defense.

College Preparation Program, Cortland

CORTLAND—A six-week program in reading, study and language skills for college-bound high school students will be held next summer at the State University College at Cortland's Huntington Memorial Camp on Raquette Lake in the Adirondacks.

The college preparation program is scheduled for July 7 through August 18, 1962 at the college's 200-acre camp which includes 17 buildings with completely modern facilities.

One of the reasons behind the formation of the program, according to its director, Dr. Frank Nania, is to help high school students overcome the second biggest hurdle of their college careers—staying in college, once they've been admitted.

"Each year thousands of college freshmen of above average ability are finding that their really tough battle has not been in gaining admission to college, but in meeting the academic standards placed upon them by the college," Dr. Nania pointed out.

Due to increased demands for proficiency in reading, study and language skills, these students frequently find themselves faced with the prospect of academic failure, he added.

"The most tragic part of this story, which is being repeated over and over again," Dr. Nania said, "is that these students have the ability to succeed."

To help high school students prepare for these challenges of college and as a part of its service as a public institution, the State University College at Cortland is offering an intensive six-week course in high-level reading, study and language skills.

The program is open to high school students who have completed at least their freshman year by June 1962, have above-average academic ability and have mastered the fundamental mechanics of reading, study and language skills as demonstrated by academic achievement.

The instructional program will be carried on in small group sessions with from four to eight students for each instructor, and on an individual basis.

In the area of reading skills the students will deal with such things as reading rate, flexibility of reading, comprehension, vocabulary development, reading in content fields and skimming.

Under study skills the topics will include note-taking, preparing for exams, study techniques, arranging study schedules and outlining. The language skills instruction will treat capitalization, spelling, sentence structure, punctuation, usage and writing.

In addition to testing and instruction in these areas, each student will be given an intelligence test and an interest inventory, and parents will be provided with a complete set of interpreted data at the end of the course. This information also will be made available to high schools and colleges upon the request of parents.

A typical day during the six-week program will include approximately five hours of instruction and supervised study.

While the major emphasis will be placed on the instructional program, time will also be provided for the students to participate in a well-rounded recreational program. Boating, canoeing, swimming, fishing, water-skiing, horseshoes, badminton, hiking, overnight trips, camp crafts and visits to points of historical interest are planned. All waterfront activities are under the direct supervision of qualified personnel.

The camp has a well-equipped infirmary with a resident nurse and a physician on call. The well-balanced meals are prepared in a modern kitchen, supervised by trained personnel from the college and the camp is equipped with modern plumbing, including hot water.

The staff is directed by Dr.

Noted Author Will Speak at Marist

Prof. Maurice Baudin will deliver the third lecture of this year's lecture series at Marist College. Dr. Baudin, the author of numerous articles in scholarly publications, will speak on "Some Aspects of Modern Theatre." The lecture will begin at 8 p. m. and will be held in the College gymnasium on campus.

Johns Hopkins University Press recently published a book written by Dr. Baudin on the French classical theater.

The Marist College Guest Lecturer attended Washington University, Ohio State and Johns Hopkins University. At Johns Hopkins, he studied under the famous Henry Carrington Lancaster and was awarded his Doctorate in 1931. He taught for several years at Miami University in Ohio, and New York University. He is currently teaching at Queens College in Brooklyn. A Master's Degree in Mathematics, earned at Columbia, was awarded him in 1955. Since his retirement in 1958 from full-time teaching, he has taught summer courses in either French or Mathematics at New York University, Fordham and Hunter. He was a John Hay Whitney Visiting Professor of Mathematics at Heidelberg College, Ohio, in 1960-61. Public is invited.

A one-pound can (number 303) of applesauce yields two cups.

Nania, an associate professor of education at Cortland, who has taught in the New York State public schools and the Campus School.

Co-directors of the Summer Reading Laboratory since 1959, Dr. Nania is chairman of the Selection Committee and reading consultant for the college's Educational Program for Talented High School Students, and co-author of a published study on "Reading Deficiencies Among Able Learners." Working with him will be qualified high school teachers.

In addition to the regular staff, Dr. Iver L. Moe, director of Reading Services, and Dr. Walter Mulholland of Psychological Testing, will act as consultants for the program.

The recreational part of the program will be under the direction of a member of the college's physical department, and assisting the recreational program director will be carefully selected college students majoring in physical education and outdoor recreation.

In order to insure that each student will receive the maximum of individual attention, the enrollment will be limited to 40 students. The closing date for making final application for the program has been set at April 15, 1962, but parents are urged to apply as soon as possible.

Further information about the program and application blanks can be obtained from Dr. Nania at the State University College at Cortland.

Sorosis Meeting Held Here

On November 27, Sorosis met at the home of Mrs. George DeKay on North Manor Avenue with Mrs. Arthur Eymann presiding. Mrs. Harry Van Wagenen, chairman of Federation activities spoke briefly about cancer treatments and the Operation Bookshelf for Institutions and hospitals. Mrs. Ward Brigham presented Mrs. Howard Lewis and Mrs. Donald Snell who were in charge of the program "Conservations of Soil."

The next meeting of the group is scheduled for December 11 at 2 p. m. in Ramsey Hall, First Presbyterian Church. Mrs. William McVey will be hostess and Mrs. Harry Van Wagenen will be in charge of the Christmas program. Guests are invited.

Each person possesses about 44,000 pairs of genes, or heredity carriers.

SCHOLASTIC CORNER
By ED PALLADINO

The old axiom that football players are nothing but big brutes with very few brains appears to be diminishing with each passing day. Another case in favor of the football players was presented the other day when it was made known that John Duffner, the rugged tackle for the Kingston High team, had received an appointment to West Point.

RICHLY DESERVED

We can think of no student more qualified for the appointment than Duffner. He's not only an outstanding athlete in three sports (football, basketball and track), but he's also a very good pupil, possessing an average of better than 90 per cent. And since he's president of the senior class, there can be no doubts as to his popularity with the other students.

Appointments to the United States Military Academy are rare. They can come only through a congressman and only if the student has not only a high scholastic average, but is of excellent character and is in the best of physical condition.

That Duffner has been chosen is a credit to the school, his coaches, his family and himself. We hope this will be the first step of a very bright future for an outstanding school citizen.

THE UCAI PRESIDENT SPEAKS

M. Chris Crespi, principal of Rondout Valley Central High School and president of the Ulster County Scholastic League, gives some encouraging news regarding injuries in football.

He said that a survey taken at the last league meeting indicated "no sustained injuries" in football. This includes seven schools, multiplied by at least 25 players, and then again by eight games. It does not include jayvee games or scrimmages even though there, too, no injuries occurred.

The league president states that the record is certainly indicative of the schools' interest in the welfare of the players by taking every precaution to prevent injuries through the purchase of equipment, dental mouthpieces, etc., as well as competent coaching staffs.

KUDOS TO SMITTY

That Dietz Stadium was in such good condition for the Thanksgiving Day game between Kingston High and Newburgh Free Academy can be attributed to the fine work of Henry Smith, the caretaker at the field. Because of a wet snow only three days prior to the tilt, he and the Recreation Dept. crew had to work well into the evening, trying to get most of the mud puddles and wet spots off the gridiron. Vince Smedes, one of the stars of last season's Kingston High cage squad which won the DUSO title, is on crutches. He suffered an ankle injury while playing for the Orange County Community College club against the Alumni. Smedes is captain of the team which also features Bill Izla of Middletown, Steve Schumer of Monticello and Ben Davis of Ellenville in its lineup. Bill Straub, who always seems to be thinking of new ways to promote the Saugerties High athletic squads, has a good gimmick. He's one of the editors of a weekly paper dealing strictly with the athletic squads at the school. It's being sent to former athletes and cheerleaders and has proven to be a big hit. Bard College, which had planned to participate in varsity basketball this season, has dropped the sport. Lack of interest has been given as the reason.

CAGE RULE CHANGES

While the rules in most sports remain more or less the same, those in basketball change almost every year. Three major changes have been adopted this season. They are:

1. Elimination of the free throws on all offensive fouls.
2. The clock will be stopped after every violation to permit coaches greater opportunity to make substitutions.
3. A one-foot buffer zone will be drawn between the first and second players lined up for free throws. This is expected to keep elbows in their proper places.

The rules committee has also decided to legalize coaching from the sidelines. This might come as a surprise to many fans because coaching from the bench has been almost universal, especially in high school ball. The officials used to ignore the infraction but now they're off the hook because it's legal.

Maroon Slated To Open Dec. 8 Against Liberty

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Finding a replacement for the great Joe Uhl and also for forward Vince Smedes and guard Al Brown is the main objective of Kingston High School basketball coach John Gilligan as he drills his cagers for the opening tilt, a DUSO encounter on Friday, Dec. 8, against Liberty.

Uhl, now a starter with the Boston University frosh squad, graduated with a bundle of records. He tallied 1282 points in three seasons of varsity ball and had totals of 517 and 502 in his junior and senior years. Joe also scored 40 points or more on three different occasions, including a record breaking 44 against Fallsburgh two years ago. Smedes was a second team All-DUSO selection last year while Brown was the playmaker for the championship squad, which had a 17-3 mark and finished second in the Section Nine tourney.

Two Regulars Back

To make up for the losses, Gilligan is counting on guard Mike Ferraro, an All-DUSO selection; center John Duffner and forward John Falvey. Duffner started last season while Falvey was number one reserve. The other loss from 1960-61 is reserve Don Komosa. Those who saw limited action and are back this time around are Bill Bodenweber, Glenn McLeod and Mike Celuch. McLeod won't be ready until after the holidays because of a football injury.

KHS — 2

Those promoted from the jayvee ranks are juniors Paul Natale, Jack Lewis, Ronnie Thomas, Pete Roberts and sophomore Larry Marcus. The other member of the varsity squad is senior Tony Erena. Frank Allen, whom Gilligan was counting on to see heavy duty, quit school this week and joined the Navy. Gilligan, beginning his seventh season as head coach at the school, sums up the squad this way. "We have fair height and average speed." He feels Falvey and Duffner will have to take up the backboard slack, caused by the graduation of Uhl and Smedes. Ferraro is the key in the speed department but will be missing Brown, his backcourt partner.

Eighty-five boys reported for the squad. There are 12 on the varsity team and jayvee coach Bill Hurley is expected to carry about 18 boys.

Newburgh Favored

Newburgh, runnerup to Kingston last year, figures to be the club to beat. The Goldies have four returning starters and several reserves back for another try at the crown. Gilligan feels Poughkeepsie and Middletown will be tough.

Kingston's chances? "The boys are working hard and the spirit is there," he stated. "It all depends on the newcomers. If they develop, we can make things interesting for everyone involved," Gilligan added.

Falvey and Ferraro have been elected as captains of the team. The schedule includes 12 league games and contests on a home

Most Minor League Owners Favor Tighter Bonus Rules

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Despite strong opposition by the Los Angeles and San Francisco National League clubs, the minors were expected to vote favorably today for an amended bonus rule designed to short-circuit what minors boss George Trautman has described as "the road to financial suicide."

At least 14 of the 22 existing minor leagues, appalled by the wild spending which cost baseball a reported total of $12 million in 1961 in bonus payments to untied youngsters, have indicated they would vote "yes" for a proposal recommended by a committee of major league officials.

The new rule would result in the following:

1. A major league club would be allowed to farm out only one first-year man.

2. All others must either be kept on the 25-player roster or be subjected to irrevocable waiver for a set price of $8,000.

3. A first-year player not claimed by waivers would be subject to draft the following winter for $8,000.

4. The farmed-out player, although performing in minors, would be counted on the parent club's 25-player roster.

Opponents of the rule claim that while such a rule would curb the practice of excessive bonus payments, it also would stifle enterprise on the part of the more aggressive clubs, negate the need of large scouting staffs, and, most important, drive young athletes from baseball to other competitive fields.

An amendment to ease this rigid rule has been proposed by Freeco Thompson, farm director of the Dodgers.

Thompson's proposal would increase the waiver price from $8,000 to $12,000 for a first-year player and permit a club to farm out two players instead of one. It would also increase the price from $8,000 to $25,000 for a first year player selected by a major league club in the draft.

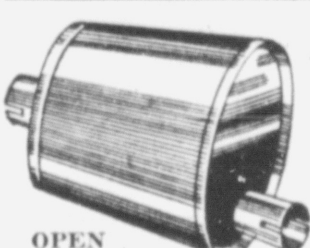

Horse of Year Award to Kelso

NEW YORK (AP)—Kelso, rated by many experts as America's greatest thoroughbred since Citation, was handed another honor today when he was named the horse-of-the-year for the second straight year. The selection was made by the Thoroughbred Racing Associations' board of selection, a group comprised of 46 racing secretaries.

The 4-year-old gelding from Mrs. Richard C. duPont's Bohemia Stable, also was named the outstanding older horse of 1961. Native Dancer is the only other horse to win horse-of-the-year honors twice but his was not in successive years.

Cuban Fiasco Brings About Washington Change

Kennedy's Recent Actions Hint He's Following Teddy's Policy

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy, an admirer of President Theodore Roosevelt's policy of soft talk with a big stick, is beginning to follow it in foreign affairs from Asia and Europe to Latin America.

Develops Slowly
Kennedy, since becoming President, has never stated this as his policy in so many words. It seems to have developed slowly, and emerged into view slowly, as crises piled up on him. But he has made it clear by action.

For example: In the military buildup after the Berlin crisis began, the nudge to Premier Khrushchev not to begin a war he couldn't win; pressure on the Vietnamese government to start reforms; use of the Navy to stop a Latin American revolt.

Kennedy, during the second TV debate with Vice President Richard M. Nixon in the 1960 presidential campaign, said "in my judgment we should follow the advice of Theodore Roosevelt: be strong, maintain a strong position but speak softly."

What Roosevelt actually said—he said it repeatedly, as governor of New York and later as president—was "speak softly and carry a big stick. You will go far." He also warned against boasting that isn't backed up.

Learns the Hard Way
Kennedy had to learn that the hard way and, as further events showed, like a man gradually feeling his way toward a fixed position.

On April 20, three days after anti-Castro rebels tried to invade Cuba with American help but were stopped cold, Kennedy said the United States would "not hesitate" to act against communism in Cuba to protect its own security.

But when the crunch came—when the rebels were slaughtered on the beaches—he did not even give them American military support. The failure was a colossal American embarrassment.

Just because this whole episode was so half-baked, it seems safe to say neither Kennedy nor his advisers had thought their way through at that time to a policy they followed later, the Roosevelt policy.

Then came Khrushchev's threats on Berlin. Kennedy responded to that with a military buildup. In terms of manpower it was more psychological than practical since only 153,000 men were added to the armed forces.

The real stick was in warning Khrushchev not to push his luck. Still, Kennedy didn't get belligerent.

Then came South Viet Nam where the Communists, by terror and persuasion, are taking over more and more of the country which is extremely poor but is run by President Ngo Dinh Diem and his family like a dictatorship.

Avoids Humiliation
This country is pouring aid into Viet Nam. Unless there are reforms—giving the peasants some tangible reason for not accepting communism peacefully—it seems certain the country will go down the drain.

Kennedy didn't say anything about U.S. pressure on the Vietnamese government to begin reforms. But in the past week the government-controlled press there began to complain about American pressure.

At his news conference Wednesday, after being asked about it, Kennedy made it clear this country is insisting on reforms. Still, he phrased it so mildly that it avoided direct humiliation for the Vietnamese government.

Last weekend, without uttering a word or threat, Kennedy acted tougher than he has in any other situation. This was by intervening in the affairs of the Dominican Republic.

There the family of the slain dictator, Rafael Trujillo, was rumored ready to try to re-establish the dictatorship. Secretary of State Dean Rusk unexpectedly said the United States would not

Cold Wave Heads Into New York, Some Digging Out
ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A cold front headed into New York State today, as Northern New Yorkers dug out of snow drifts up to five feet.

State Police reported all main roads and most secondary roads open, though slippery, in the North Country after a snowfall that reached three feet at Malone. The Weather Bureau predicted further snow squalls, however, in the Adirondacks and Catskills and in areas close to the Great Lakes. Temperatures tonight were expected to range through the teens to the lower 20s generally Upstate and to the 20s in New York City. Continued cold was forecast for Friday. Wednesday night's overnight lows were mostly in the 20s and 30s, although Watertown registered 15, and Utica and Massena 17.

Khrush Messages Pope Greetings, First for Soviet

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev sent birthday greetings to Pope John XXIII last weekend, the first time any Soviet premier is known to have sent any greeting to a pontiff of the Roman Catholic Church.

The Vatican said the message had been received and a reply sent but would give no details.

Presumably the reply was an expression of thanks.

A spokesman at the embassy said Ambassador Semen Kozirev had been delegated by Khrushchev to extend his greetings to Pope John on his 80th birthday Nov. 25. This had been done in writing through the Vatican's apostolic nunciature in Italy, said the spokesman.

One Vatican source described the gesture as "a crooked line" and said, "with this man (Khrushchev) anything is possible."

Ellenville Vols Summoned Twice

Ellenville firefighters were kept busy Wednesday night with two calls within three hours, but neither blaze did a great deal of damage.

The first call, at 7:02 p. m., took the Pioneer Engine Company to the Dynafarm Corporation at Oak Ridge where a brush fire was raging in a nearby field. The flames were extinguished within an hour and a half.

The second call, at 10:03 p. m., took all three Ellenville fire companies, including four trucks to Albert's Bakery on Canal Street, in the business district for a fire which the police reported started near a boiler in the cellar. The blaze was extinguished in about three quarters of an hour with a minimum of damage, the report stated.

Body Found in Pipe
LYNDBROOK, N.Y. (AP)—The body of a 14-year-old boy was found Wednesday in a storm drain pipe more than 750 feet from where he crawled in.

Police said George Laumenade suffocated. He was missing since Saturday when he left home saying he was going to get a soda.

Heart Victim Saves Boy Then Succumbs

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP)—Clarence L. Fisher, 69, a semi-invalid rescued a newsboy from the onslaughts of a dog Wednesday. Then, he collapsed and died.

Fisher, who hadn't been able to work since 1943 because of a heart ailment, picked up a stick and ran 50 yards in response to cries from Earl Edward McDanel, 14. The dog nipped the boy on the hand and shredded his newspaper bag. Then, it turned and chased Fisher back to his house. Fisher collapsed.

The dog was captured and will be tested for rabies.
